Witnesses Testify to the Sobriety of Mrs. Talbot.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The periods of alleged intoxication of Mrs. Annie D. Talbot is the chief bone of contention between counsel in the divorce suit of the millionaire lumber dealer, W. H. Talbot. Attorney Samuel Shortridge, representing the defendant, is endeavoring to show that Mrs. Talbot was not in the habit of taking more of the fiery fluid than was good for her. He proposes to head an expedition composed of counsel on both sides, Judge Sewall, and the plaintiff and defendant, which shall examine the magnificent Talbot residence on Scott and Jackson streets opposite Alta Plaza, in order that they may observe the order of the rooms and to demonstrate to them how it would have been possible for someone other than Mrs. Talbot to have removed whisky and other liquor from its place in Talbot's closet.

At the opening of court this morning Judge Sewall granted the motion of the defense to strike out the first complaint on the ground of cruelty, but denied the motion to strike out the evidence submitted by the plaintiff in regard to the intoxication of the defendant.

SAW NO DRINKING.

The first witness called was Professor C. J. Himm, of 1330 McAllister street, who, before the fire, conducted the most select dancing academy in this city. He testified that the children attended his school and were frequently accompanied by their mother. He stated that neither at his hall nor when he called at the Talbot residence to collect his bill had he seen Mrs. Talbot under the influence of liquor.

He was followed by Dr. George E. Gear, who stated that he had been called to treat Mrs. Talbot for insanity, but that he had advised that she call in Dr. Charles Clark. He had never seen her in other than a sober condition. Dr. Clark, who followed, testified that he had treated the defendant for insanity, but that he had never seen her intoxicated during any of his visits to the house.

Following the testimony of Dr. Clark, Shortridge made his request that Judge, counsel, plaintiff and defendant visit the residence and see Mrs. Talbot had had to lock certain doors; and generally observe the way the interior was arranged.

AGED COUPLE IN SUICIDE COMPACT

Tired of Life's Battle, They Clasp Hands And Drink Carbolic Acid.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Tired of life's battle, John Morlan, aged 63, and his wife, Mary, aged 71, committed suicide last night by taking carbolic acid.

The old couple, it is said, had been living on the kindness of neighbors for some time, occasionally getting a supply of food from the county.

Yesterday the old man made a will in which he left his household goods and some trinkets to his two children, residence unknown, and then he and his wife prepared to carry out a suicide compact.

They dressed themselves in their best clothes, drank the poison and lay down on the bed. When found they were clasping hands.

TWO THUGS BEAT AND ROB VICTIM

Held Up Pedestrian at Revolver's Point—Assaulted and Left Unconscious.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—After being beaten and robbed by two thugs who left him in a semi-conscious condition on the street, William J. Campbell was taken to the harbor emergency hospital at an early hour this morning and treated for a badly lacerated wound of the scalp and numerous bruises and abrasions.

Campbell explained to Special Officer Doyle and Policeman Martin, who found him, that he had been held up at the point of a revolver at First and Market streets by two men, who robbed him of $16 in cash, and, after beating him, threw him to the sidewalk. He was unable to say just what hour the assault took place, but he had been lying on the street before he was discovered by the officers.

UNABLE TO FACE DIVORCE WOMAN SHOTS HERSELF

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 22.—The trial of the divorce suit of Mrs. Pearl Turner against Mark C. Turner, a federal clerk, was discontinued today and the court was notified by telephone that Mrs. Turner had shot and killed herself at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mansard.

Mrs. Turner left a note to her mother in which she said she could not endure to face the charge made by her husband that she was not morally fitted to raise her child. She had sued for divorce on the ground of cruelty and non-support.

IS PART OF RUEF REBELS IN HAYTI CONTRACT KEPT SECRET?

Claim Made That One Clause Has Been Withheld From the Public.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—A question has been raised in this city as to whether or not the full immunity contract which was offered Abe Ruef, and which was signed by District Attorney Langdon, Assistant District Attorney Heney and Ruef himself, has as yet been given to the public. A story to the contrary is in circulation. Ruef remains silent, while the story is contradicted by Langdon.

So far as is known, there are extant only two copies of this document, one of which is in the possession of District Attorney Langdon and the other Ruef has.

The question was discussed today in graft circles and one of those present said: "The entire immunity contract given Ruef has not yet been made public. There was at least one clause it contained which

Late Millionaire's Son Asks Damages

Accusations of fraud are contained in a suit for damages brought today by Frank Page Bacon, only son of the late Henry D. Bacon, a pioneer Oakland millionaire, against his two sisters, Mrs. Ella Etta Bacon Soule, divorced wife of Professor Frank Soule of the University of California, and Carrie J. Bacon.

Bacon accuses his sisters of having "clandestinely, fraudulently, and without his knowledge and consent," removed valuable furniture and ornaments from the old Bacon house, which covers a whole block in the fashionable Lakeside district, after a partition of the Bacon estate had been made in which the home and its contents had been allotted to him. The suit was filed this morning in the office of the county clerk. Bacon asks for $10,188 damages. He is represented by Attorney F. A. Berlin.

STEAMERS RAM TOGETHER; NO LIVES WERE LOST

ROTTERDAM, Jan. 22.—The steamer Amsterdam, belonging to the Great Eastern Railway company and the British Steamer Axminster, from New York December 20 for Rotterdam, collided last night near Nieuwe Waterweg. The Amsterdam was badly damaged and proceeded to Maasvlakte where she beached.

The Amsterdam was coming from Harwich and had fifty-six passengers on board. A dense fog prevailed and the two steamers came together before each had time to sheer off. The Amsterdam had a great hole stove in her bows and the water began coming in so fast that the captain decided to lower his boats and transfer her passengers to the Axminster. This was done without mishap. The stem of the Axminster was badly damaged.

RUEF'S CASE IS AGAIN PUT OVER

Spreckels Busy Consulting With Langdon in Courtroom—Ruef Still After Counsel.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Because of the fact that Abraham Ruef has not yet succeeded in getting a definite answer from the attorneys whom he has approached with a view of defending him in his coming trial before Judge Lawlor, the cases against him were continued in department 11 of the Superior Court this morning until Friday, January 24, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The proceedings this morning were short, although considerable delay was experienced through the fact that the counsel for the various defendants did not arrive promptly at the court room. Twice Judge Lawlor left the bench and retired to his chambers to await the attorneys, and during one of these intervals Rudolph Spreckels left his place among the spectators and talked long and earnestly to District Attorney Langdon, who sat at the prosecution's table.

SPRECKELS BUSY. Something of an argument seemed to be going on between them, and Ruef, who was sitting near enough to see but not to hear, was extremely interested in the proceeding. Several times he looked toward the newspaper men and pointed toward Spreckels and Langdon, but when seen after the court proceedings he would say nothing other than "I just thought you ought to see that."

Judge Lawlor ascended the bench promptly at 10 o'clock and called his calendar. The attorneys for the United Railroads officials and Abraham Ruef had not yet arrived, but Eugene C. Schmitt was represented by Attorney Enright and Drew. A short recess was then taken, and when the court again opened Attorney George Keane, representing Ruef, had arrived, and that case was immediately called.

Keane then asked for a continuance in the following terms: "During the time allotted we have canvassed a number of law offices in an effort to find counsel and one attorney has consented to take the case if another lawyer is associated with him. He, however, has a case in Los Angeles which will take five or six days to try and if, when he comes back and we have the associate counsel ready, we will be prepared to proceed to trial. The associate counsel has been communicated with and I was to have heard from him today, but have received no word up

KILLS MAN: SHOTS HERSELF

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Several hundred persons, most of them women shoppers, witnessed a murder and a suicide in the restaurant of a large Broadway department store today. Frank Brady, an advertising solicitor for a newspaper, was shot five times and instantly killed by a woman believed to be Mary R. Clark, of 218 West Thirty-third street. The woman then shot herself and died in the hospital, to which she was taken.

Brady was sitting at a table in the restaurant on the eighth floor of the department store. The large room was crowded with shoppers and employees of the store, who had gone there for lunch.

The woman approached the table where Brady sat and fired five shots into his neck, face and chest. Drawing another revolver from her muff, the woman quickly fired three shots into her own breast and fell backward on the floor. Witnesses of the shooting sat transfixed until the last shot was fired. Brady was dead when they reached him, but the woman was still alive and was hurried to a hospital, where she died within a short time.

Besides the two revolvers used in the shooting, a third revolver, fully loaded, was found concealed in Mrs. Clark's muff.

LETTERS TO COMSTOCK ARE READ

In Them Thaw Referred to White as a 'Black-guard.'

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Anthony Comstock, vice-president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, was the principal witness at the trial of Harry K. Thaw today. He testified that late in 1904 Thaw came to him and complained of various practices of Stanford White and several of White's friends. During the year that followed Thaw wrote to him several times and was a frequent visitor at the vice-president's headquarters. Letters were read in evidence. They gave the names of the alleged victims of White in the famous trial and referred to White as the "black-guard." The house, Thaw declared, "was consecrated to orgies and controlled by six or seven criminal scoundrels."

The letters were new evidence in the case but were mentioned at the last trial when Dr. Evans was telling what Thaw had said to him of his efforts to have Stanford White sent to the penitentiary. "I did not want to kill the beast," said Thaw at that time. "But I did want to have him brought to court and have his acts known. Providence intervened. It was an act of Providence."

It was 1920 o'clock when the trial was resumed today and Attorney Littleton of the defense began at once the preliminaries of producing Harry Thaw's will and codicil executed the day of his wedding to Evelyn Nesbit in Pittsburgh. Miss Frances Hendon, who witnessed the signatures and was testified at the last trial, was called to the stand. Miss Pierce identified the papers, but District Attorney Jerome objected to the introduction of the will until witnesses had come forward to prove its custody from the time of signing up to the present moment. Littleton declared the District Attorney's objection simply would delay matters and he temporarily withdrew the offer of the will.

Justice Downing said the condition of the will, a long, rambling affair, was such as to make the proof of custody desirable. "There were many changes and alterations in it. As to the codicil, Jerome objected to the introduction on the ground that it was in the defendant's own handwriting and was a self-serving document. Justice Downing said the codicil was compact, continuing document and was competent as evidence. Littleton then read the document to the jury. The codicil, it will be remembered, provided a number of gifts to lawyers to aid alleged victims of Stanford White, to prosecute claims for damages against him or the prosecution of all persons "engaged in such unlawful practices as said Stanford White."

Among those to whom the funds were made available were R. Ross Perry of Washington; Dr. Charles Parkhurst and Anthony Comstock. Thaw named a number of young women now on the stage as possible claimants against Stanford White. "You know Harry Thaw?"

Comstock said that Harry Thaw called at his office in February, 1904, and complained of a party who was wronging young girls. He went into details. Comstock also said he had received several letters from Thaw. The witness identified several communications from Thaw, one of the papers being a diagram of the premises where he declared evil men were carrying on criminal practices. Thaw declared that workmen on the buildings near these premises had heard young girls scream and suggested that men be sent to watch the entrances to the place. Thaw said he had communicated with the society for the prevention of cruelty to children, suggesting that an investigation should be issued and an investigation made of the house which was located in Twenty-second street.

SAID HE WAS FOLLOWED. "Thaw told me that he had been followed to my office the second time by men who were employed to watch him," continued the witness. "I sent men out in the hallway to see if anyone was there." Jerome objected to the witness telling the result of this search, but it came out in the discussion that no one had followed Thaw. "When Thaw came back to see me the third time," resumed Comstock, "I told him I had been unable to secure any evidence, as the house on Twenty-second street seemed to be closed. He said he would furnish me the names of several girls who had been there. I told him it would be necessary to corroborate their stories, and we talked the matter over some time."

Comstock here identified three more letters from Thaw, one having been received as late as April, 1906, two months before the tragedy.

TELLS OF PITFALL. Mr. Littleton first read to the jury a communication from Thaw to Comstock, written in November, 1904. It attempted to give in detail a description of the Twenty-fourth street house, with crude diagrams appearing here and there in the text. Thaw declared that one room was furnished like a forest and that secret stairs led from it to the room of the mirrors. The doors of this room were hard to find, the letter declared, and there was no escape for the young girls who were drugged. Thaw claimed that six or seven "criminal scoundrels" controlled the place and that three or four decent young men who did not know of the criminal acts often frequented the place. "Thousands of crimes have been com-

FLAMES ENDANGER LIVES OF MANY PERSONS

Fire in Store Under Lodging House in Broadway Causes Much Damage.

MISS AGNES GEARY.

Fire of unknown origin, which broke out at 5:30 o'clock this morning in the rear of S. S. Fleischer's clothing store, 911 Broadway, threatened not only the destruction of the entire block, but the lives of a number of men and women in the lodging house over the store at 913 Broadway. This place was soon filled to suffocation with smoke and it is due to the activity of the members of the police department that all went to a place of safety without any fatalities. Captain Charles Bock, Sergeant Brown and Policemen Feeley, Holmberg, McCarthy, Wood, Shannin, Thornbury, Collett, and Special Policemen Murdock and Hoffman all took part in waking up those sleeping in the lodging house at the time the flames were discovered.

An investigation of the fire has failed to determine the cause for the blaze. No person was in the clothing store at the time it was discovered. The damage to the building and contents including damage from smoke and water in the American Jewelry Company, 900 Broadway, the Index saloon, 915 Broadway, and the lodging house will total over $5000, partially covered by insurance.

The matter was brought to the attention of Abe Ruef this morning by THE TRIBUNE correspondent in a request for permission to examine the immunity contract in question, which is in Ruef's possession.

"I can't let you see it now," was Ruef's reply.

Everything will be shown when the time comes for me to make a statement. "You will not deny the story," he was asked.

"I will not deny nor affirm it. I will say nothing until I am prepared to make a statement."

District Attorney Langdon was talked to on the subject and declared that no clause had been omitted from the immunity contract.

"The contract that has been published is the contract," said Mr. Langdon.

ATTACK IS MADE ON TREADWELL INDICTMENT

The fact that the case was not on the calendar for today, objection to that effect having been made by Assistant Attorney Cook.

The defendant was represented by Attorneys Geary and Asa Mendenhall, the latter of Oakland, as well as Byington.

Byington was taken to task by Assistant District Attorney Cook for the unauthorized appearance in court of about thirteen members of the grand jury who had been subpoenaed to be in attendance today to give testimony in the Treadwell case, when that case had not been set for hearing until tomorrow.

The grand jurors were early on hand but Clerk McManus informed them that the Treadwell case had been set for tomorrow and not today.

INDIGNANT GRAND JURORS. The announcement caused considerable surprise and indignation on the part of the grand jurors. Foreman McFarland was the spokesman for the party. He claimed that it was an injury to bring business men away from their places of business to attend court when there was nothing in court for them to do. Yesterday they had, he said, worked all afternoon in the grand jury room and had there been subpoenaed to be in court today. His time, he declared, and that of the other grand jurors was worth money and he is anxious to know why they had been summoned for nothing.

Attorney Byington then said that the subpoenas had been issued at his request, as he was under the impression the case had been set for today, when in reality it was on the calendar for tomorrow. He asked the indulgence of the court for his mistake. He said that as the jurors were present he did not think it would take long to examine them.

Assistant District Attorney Cook said that he did not see why the case should go on when it was not on the calendar. The court, on learning that the defendant, Treadwell, was in attendance, said he would allow the testimony to be taken.

ALLEGES BIAS. The purpose of the examination was to show if possible that the indictment of the grand jury was returned because of bias on the part of the members of that body against Treadwell. One of the interesting features of the inquiry was the fact that nearly half of the jurors examined were or had been depositors in the defendant bank.

The first witness was Grand Juror Donlan and practically the same questions which were asked of him were propounded by Byington to all the other grand jurors examined.

"Did you know Mr. Treadwell before the finding of the indictment?" was asked by Byington.

"I did," said Donlan.

"Were you a depositor in the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company?"

"I was."

"You remember the charge in the indictment?"

"It was embezzlement."

"Was Mr. Cook of the district attorney's office present in the jury room when the indictment was returned?"

This question was objected to, but the grand juror finally answered that there was nobody present in the grand jury room when the indictment was voted except members of that body.

"Were all the grand jurors present?"

"There were at least seventeen."

"Did seventeen members vote for the indictment?"

An objection to this question was sustained.

HAD READ OF CASE. "Had you read anything on the case prior to acting on the grand jury?"

"I had."

"Had you any personal feeling against the defendant?"

was omitted when it was published. I do not know why the clause was omitted. My opinion is that it was a matter of some moment. At all events it seems to me that it would be of interest to the public. The clause was in the contract signed by District Attorney Langdon, not published. At the same time it is difficult to understand what purpose, if any, the prosecution could have in concealing it."

The matter was brought to the attention of Abe Ruef this morning by THE TRIBUNE correspondent in a request for permission to examine the immunity contract in question, which is in Ruef's possession.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—John Marshall, a jeweler at 1619 Develadero street, was victimized by confidence operators who worked an old trick on him yesterday afternoon. The two men entered his store and asked to look at some scarf pins. They picked them over for some time and a few moments later Marshall noticed that a valuable gold watch which had been hanging on a peg near by, had disappeared and he notified the police.

"I had not."

"Did any person tell you that you should bring in an indictment?"

"No."

"Did the assistant district attorney tell you you should bring in an indictment?"

"No."

"By what considerations were you influenced in voting for an indictment?"

OBJECTION SUSTAINED. This was objected to and the objection sustained.

Assistant District Attorney Cook then asked a few questions tending to show no bias was used.

"Did you," asked Cook, "have any prejudices against the defendant?"

"No."

"Did more than twelve jurors vote for the indictment?"

"Yes."

The other grand jurors examined were J. H. Keefe, William Curlett, Michael Merigan, Edward A. Kyle, Julius Godeau, P. C. Rossi, Michael Farrell, John Higgins, M. A. Newell, Garrett M. Goldberg, A. G. McFarland.

It was then stipulated that the testimony taken today would be understood as having been taken tomorrow when the formal motion to set aside the indictment will be made.

ECZEMA DISAPPEARS

Easy Test Demonstrates Rapid Action of New Drug.

According to an interesting little treatise just issued, the use of psolman, the new discovery for the cure of eczema and other skin afflictions, begins with a practical demonstration of the work it so quickly accomplishes. Sufferers are only asked to obtain one of the experimental samples which the Emergency Laboratories, 22 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, will send to any one by mail free of charge, and to apply same to the spot the size of a silver dollar. If the spot is healed in 24 hours and it is desired to continue the treatment, large quantities of new psolman may be obtained in Oakland at the Owl Drug Co., and all leading drug stores, in sufficient boxes and two dollar jars. Psolman stops the itching with first application, and proceeds to heal eczema in two weeks. It cures minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, blotches, acne, red noses, rash, etc., results show after an overnight application.

ROOSEVELT APPOINTS HAWAIIAN OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The President today sent to the Senate the following nominations: To be United States Marshal for the Territory of Hawaii, Eugene S. Henry, of Hawaii; to be United States Attorney for the Territory of Hawaii, Robert W. Breckons, of Hawaii.

Evans' Fleet Is on Way to Punta Arenas

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Admiral Evans called the Navy Department from Rio Janeiro that his fleet, with the exception of the Arethusa, sailed today for Punta Arenas.

JEWELER TRICKED BY 2 CONFIDENCE MEN

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—John Marshall, a jeweler at 1619 Develadero street, was victimized by confidence operators who worked an old trick on him yesterday afternoon. The two men entered his store and asked to look at some scarf pins. They picked them over for some time and a few moments later Marshall noticed that a valuable gold watch which had been hanging on a peg near by, had disappeared and he notified the police.

"I had not."

"Did any person tell you that you should bring in an indictment?"

"No."

"Did the assistant district attorney tell you you should bring in an indictment?"

"No."

"By what considerations were you influenced in voting for an indictment?"

OBJECTION SUSTAINED. This was objected to and the objection sustained.

Assistant District Attorney Cook then asked a few questions tending to show no bias was used.

"Did you," asked Cook, "have any prejudices against the defendant?"

"No."

"Did more than twelve jurors vote for the indictment?"

"Yes."

The other grand jurors examined were J. H. Keefe, William Curlett, Michael Merigan, Edward A. Kyle, Julius Godeau, P. C. Rossi, Michael Farrell, John Higgins, M. A. Newell, Garrett M. Goldberg, A. G. McFarland.

DYSPEPSIA-PROOF

How Any Meal Can Be Thoroughly Enjoyed By Any Stomach.

Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their antagonists turn on the searchlight, and the proof of men's will lie in being able to stand the heat.

It was only in this way that Mr. White ever knew that dyspepsia was one of Mr. Black's worst enemies. Sitting face to face at a two-by-four table, he handed his afflicted friend the bill of fare. Oyster Cocktail. Stuffed Olives. Boston Clam Chowder.

Strained Gumbo. Sirloin Steak with Mushrooms. Roast Beef Hash. Baked Potatoes with Sauerkraut. Lobster à la Newburg. Baked Pork and Beans. Combination Crab Salad. Hot Mince Pie. Pinapple Fritters.

Mr. White ordered a "little of each." Mr. Black ordered a "big of each." Mr. Black ordered a "big of each." Mr. Black ordered a "big of each."

"I'll just take a bite to keep my appetite," said Mr. White. "I am afraid you are wrong," said Mr. Black. "You have dyspepsia, and you will always have the hungry look now as long as you have dyspepsia. Listen. My stomach was in just as bad condition as yours one time. But now I can eat anything at any time. For instance, this clam chowder or sirloin steak or even the lobster would be just as welcome to my stomach as your crackers and milk. You don't realize how this dyspepsia business is robbing you of your spirit, of your energy and ability to think quickly. I can't help notice it. You haven't the cheer and sociability you had three months ago. Now I'll tell you what to do, and thereafter the cheerful Mr. White took a vial from his pocket and extracted a wee tablet. "There, there is the tablet that contains an ingredient, one grain of which digests 3,000 grains of food. For even the worst dyspeptic it's the only thing that really gives relief. The reason is it relieves the stomach of nearly all the work it has to do, digests everything in the stomach and stimulates the gastric juice. I can't get along without them. They are Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. You can get them anywhere on earth for 50c a package."

Yes, it is true, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets absolutely stop heartburn, nausea, indigestion, dyspepsia of the worst type, sour stomach, bloated feeling and all excruciating and irritating, and freshen and invigorate the stomach. They cheer you up, and make you get all the good there is in your food. You will forget you ever had a stomach to worry you.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ASSAILANT AND VICTIM IN JAIL

Elmhurst, Cal., Oct. 2nd 1907.

I, Marie E. Halpruner, wife of Dr. W. S. Halpruner, of Elmhurst, California.

I hereby agree to an agreement with him, that I will not quarrel with him, either in bed or out of it, either when we are alone or in the presence of any person or persons, and in speaking to him or answering him I will not speak to him in a curt or saucy manner, but speak to him in a gentle way or voice, as I do to strangers. That I will not "frown or draw" my face in a form of disgust when he is talking to other people.

2nd - That I will not wound his feelings by making remarks or complaints about his misfortunes, which he cannot help, control or remedy; his deafness, his heavy breathing, (which I call snoring) and his loud speech of voice.

3rd - I agree to drop any and all revenge that I have had against him, for real or fancied or just cause, or wish him bad luck or misfortune; that I will not associate with or have them visit me any "male or female" person that is objectionable to my husbands wishes; when he commands me to drop them.

4th - That I will agree with him on these matters.

MRS. HALPRUNER, OVER WHOM YESTERDAY'S SHOOTING OCCURRED.

'CO-CO' BUSINESS ENTERS INTO HALPRUNER DISPUTE

Memoranda of How to Be Happy

The following memoranda is given THE TRIBUNE by Mrs. Marie E. Halpruner, wife of Dr. W. S. Halpruner, which she says is a series of memoranda which her husband wanted her to agree to and to swear to so they could live happily.

The matter with the couple rests as it was when he made the application to her.

The memoranda follows:

"Elmhurst, Cal., Oct. 2d, 1907.

"I, Marie E. Halpruner, wife of Dr. W. S. Halpruner of Elmhurst, California.

"I hereby agree to an agreement as follows, to wit:

"1st - That I will not quarrel with my husband or entertain a quarrel either in bed or out of it, either when we are alone or in the presence of any person or persons, and in speaking to him or answering him I will not speak to him in a curt or saucy manner, but speak to him in a gentle way or voice as I do to strangers. That I will not "frown or draw" my face in a form of disgust when he is talking to other people.

"2d - That I will not wound his feelings by making remarks or complaints about his misfortunes, which he cannot help, control or remedy; his deafness, his heavy breathing, (which I call snoring) and his loud speech of voice.

TO DROP REVENGE.

"3d - I agree to drop any and all revenge that I have had against him, for real or fancied or just cause, or wish him bad luck or misfortune; that I will not associate with or have them visit me any "male or female" person that is objectionable to my husbands wishes when he commands me to drop them.

"4th - That I will agree with him on all business matters as he may suggest and try to do as near as I can as he has directed me without getting into any quarrelsome argument; and that I will show a true respect for him as a wife should.

"5th - That I will never again call him any improper name which he is not and which the dog is heir to.

WHEN HE COMES CO COING.

"6th - When he comes to me in a loving and "co-co" manner I agree to return the same to him and treat him in the same loving manner as I did the first year of our marriage; and when he lays hands on me in a loving manner to hug and caress me I will submit to the same as a dutiful wife should and return the same to him.

"7th - That when he lays hands on me and hugs and caresses me, that I will not wound his feelings by saying to him that he is mauling me and that I don't want him to maul me or say it so other people can hear it, or to them.

"8th - I further agree to work hand in hand to help him to get our home paid for, and encourage him in his business so he will make a success of it, will knowing that he is a man of 56 years of age, and suffering with a weight, slow heart, unable to move fast as a man would be in perfect health.

NO FAULT-FINDING.

"I further agree to never find fault with him about any mechanical or manual labor he is doing by saying he is not doing it as fast as other mechanics would do it.

"9th - I agree to not throw slurs at him about the business or profession he may be following, whereby he is making any portion of our living with, or slurs doors in (anger).

"10th - (Final) - I agree to follow all of the above said agreements and do as my marriage agreement said: "Take it to me for better or worse, forever and forever, and love, cherish and obey him."

Witnesses: Signed

DIDN'T SIGN IT.

The document was not signed by Mrs. Halpruner, but Dr. Halpruner signed the following with witnesses: Oct. 3, 1907.

"For and in consideration of the foregoing agreement of even date, signed by Marie E. Halpruner, in the presence of E. H. and Lena Stagnaro, I, Dr. W. S. Halpruner, agree to the following things, to wit:

"First - I will not entertain any quarrel with her or harass her by making a quarrel with her.

"Second - I will be kind and affectionate

GETS SMALL DOG OVER FOOTLIGHTS

Prima Donna Receives Peculiar Gift After She Sings.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22. — A tiny Japanese spaniel fast asleep and nestling in a bed of carnations and roses was the unusual gift which was passed over the footlights at the Auditorium last night to Miss Alice Nielson, prima donna, of the San Carlos Opera Company.

Miss Nielson had won her audience and been heartily applauded when the flower filled basket was handed up to her.

The prima donna's bowing and smiling ceased, when suddenly the diminutive spaniel aroused from his slumbers, sat bolt upright and blinked at the bewildered audience. Miss Nielson hurriedly bowed herself away with the basket.

What She Says Dr. Halpruner Wanted Her to Agree to—

That I will not quarrel with my husband or entertain a quarrel, either in bed or out of it, either when we are alone or in the presence of any person or persons, and in speaking to him or answering him I will not speak to him in a curt or saucy manner, but speak to him in a gentle way or voice, as I do to strangers. That I will never again call him an improper name which he is not and which the dog is heir to.

When he comes to me in a loving and "co-co" manner I agree to return the same to him and treat him in the same loving manner as I did the first year of our marriage; and when he lays hands on me in a loving manner to hug and caress me I will submit to the same as a dutiful wife should and return the same to him.

What She She Wouldn't Agree to—

I hereby certify and declare that the presence of Winfield S. Halpruner, my husband, in my bed at night destroys my sleep and ruins my health.

I hereby certify that I never agreed to agree to that part of the marriage agreement known as (I will love, cherish and obey him) and I never will agree to the above words as a wife should.

He said: "I went around to the house yesterday morning after I had received the letter to demand an explanation. No man can send me such a letter. First Halpruner's servant came and told me the doctor would not see me. I told her he would have to see me. I was standing in the store at the time. Suddenly he appeared and fired through the window. The shot hit me in the hand. I had no gun with me at the time."

Chambers would not discuss his relations with Mrs. Halpruner. The latter has denied that there was anything improper in them. Halpruner says she has neglected him for Chambers for eleven years and a half, and that the pair lived together in San Diego for several months. He declares he told his wife, when she denied criminal relations, that he would believe her if she told all to a priest and the priest answered for her character.

"I said to her again and again," Halpruner declared, "that I would believe what the priest told me about it. I am not a Catholic, but she is. I told her to go to a priest and swear to him that she was innocent, and if she satisfied him I would be satisfied. But she never went to see a priest about it."

Moss's Great Removal Sale Opens Thursday

TOMORROW

A very plain story—that of our removal sale.

The Moss Glove House is to remove, in a few weeks, into a larger and much handsomer store immediately adjoining its present location.

We do not want to move any more of our stock than we have to, so we have decided to give the glove and umbrella buying public a month of special opportunities, till our new home is ready.

This will be a great sale for the simple reason that the gloves and umbrellas we offer are all new and staple lines, from our regular stock; not gloves and umbrellas bought for special sales—but regular well-known makes that everybody knows about.

For instance this week we will offer:

LOT 1.

At $2.95—All our $3.50, $3.75 and $4.00 qualities of 18-button length high-grade real French kid gloves of the well-known makes of Trefousse, Fownes and Calinas, black, white and all colors.

N. B.—This one lot alone should fill our store to the doors.

LOT 2.

At $2.95—All our $3.50 and $3.75, 12 and 16-button length genuine London Cape gloves in Dent's shades; all sizes; P. X. M. sewn; SALE PRICE $2.95.

LOT 3.

At 95c—$1.25 quality genuine Mocha with large fancy clasp; all sizes, colors of brown, gray, ox-blood, tan, mode and beaver—SALE PRICE 95c.

LOT 4.

At 95c—Ladies' $1.25 quality genuine English Cape gloves, single large clasp; in Dent's shades; P. X. M. sewn—SALE PRICE 95c.

Odds and Ends

LOT 5.

At 50c and $1.00—All our slightly damaged and odd lots will be put on sale at 50c for the short kid gloves, $1.00 for the long kid gloves.

N. B.—You will find great bargains among this lot—they will not last long.

LOT 6.

At $1.15—Powne's 16-button length pure silk gloves; double-tipped fingers; in black only; sold everywhere in the U. S. at $1.50—SALE PRICE $1.15.

For want of space we will be brief—other specials are:

Ladies' $1.50 Pique sewn kid—$1.10.

Ladies' $1.75 Powne's Pique kid—$1.15.

Ladies' $2.00 solid pearl clasp cape—$1.35.

Men's Gloves

Men's $1.25 P. X. M. Cape Gloves—95c.

Men's $1.25 Pique Walking Gloves—95c.

Men's $1.75 Genuine Mocha gloves—$1.35.

Men's $1.75 Pique kid—fine quality—$1.35.

Umbrellas

Ladies' and Men's

$1.00 qualities reduced to 60c.

$1.25 qualities reduced to 85c.

$1.50 qualities reduced to $1.15.

$1.75 qualities reduced to $1.45.

$2.50 qualities reduced to $1.95.

$5.00 qualities reduced to $3.75.

$6.00 qualities reduced to $4.50.

$7.00 qualities reduced to $5.25.

W. H. Reilly, Appointed New Warden at Folsom

DIRECTORS OUST ARCHIBALD YELL

Deputy Sheriff of Ventura County
Is Named as Successor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The State board of prison directors, at a special meeting in the ferry building, ousted Warden Yell of Folsom State prison and elected, in Yell's place, Deputy Sheriff W. H. Reilly of Ventura county, an active Republican, who has been championed by Lieutenant-Governor Warren R. Porter.

In addition to Porter, the members of the board are T. L. Ford of the United Railroads, Robert T. Devlin, of the United States district attorney, Charles C. Clinch of Grass Valley and Don Ray of Galt. Ray's term has expired, but his successor has not yet been appointed. He is the last Democrat on the board.

Yell is a Democrat, and it has been the unwritten law for many years that a Democrat should be warden at Folsom and a Republican at San Quentin. "Good luck to Reilly," said Yell last night when he was told that the Ventura man had been named by the prison board to succeed him as warden of the penitentiary at Folsom.

"If Reilly is the choice of the board, well and good," continued Yell. "I wish him success. No man would care to fill the position of prison warden unless the board of directors were behind him. Since December 1 I have been acting as warden merely because the board had taken no action regarding my successor."

Governor Gillett recently told me he was friendly toward me, and would like to see me named to succeed myself. He said, however, that the board was free to take whatever action it saw fit. I was given to understand that the recommendation counted for no more than that of anybody else except for the prestige of his position."

MANY HERE HAD IT FILLED

No Sufferer of Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism Should Leave
It Untried.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "Vegetable Prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well-known druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drug store will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bed-time. There is enough here to last for one week. If taken according to directions Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

JUDGE COOPER DEFENDS APPELLATE COURT DECISION

GIVES REASONS FOR HIS OPINION

Presiding Judge Declares Law
Was Fully Upheld in the Schmitz Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeals, James A. Cooper, is the first of the members of that judicial body to express an opinion concerning the recent decision of his court in the Schmitz case.

It is in the form of a letter to Attorney J. C. Hutchinson of San Francisco and Palo Alto. In fact, it is a reply to a letter sent him by the lawyer in which Hutchinson expressed "profound regret and chagrin" that Cooper should have taken any part in such a decision. In the same letter the lawyer says the ardent advocacy of Cooper's election shown by him has caused him to be called to account by his friends.

The judge makes quite a lengthy defense of the decision which he contends is correct in point of law. "I also make assertions relative to the conditions in San Francisco which will be startling news to very many."

HIS LETTER.

Judge Cooper's letter to Lawyer Hutchinson follows:

"My Dear Mr. Hutchinson:—
"Yours of the 13th was duly received and contents carefully noted. If it were not for the high regard I have for you as a lawyer, a scholar and a gentleman, and not only this, but an upright citizen, I would not answer the letter. But if I do value your good opinion and your friendship, and I fully appreciate the valuable work you did for me before the election."

"I am sorry to have disappointed you and my good friend who helped to elect me, but I simply took part in interpreting the law as I understood it and I could not respect myself if I had done otherwise. If we are wrong in such interpretation of the law there is an easy and simple way to bring the matter before the Supreme Court upon petition."

"TO ERR IS HUMAN."
"To err is human and none of us see things exactly alike or through the same glasses. If a judge has rendered a decision in accordance with his honest views and his understanding of the law, after careful study, he has done his duty, and can rest secure in the consciousness that he has acted to the best of his judgment. That is all that could be expected of anyone. If a judge should not coldly and impartially interpret the law without regard to public excitement or newspaper criticism he would not be fit to occupy the bench, but on the contrary would be a disgrace to it."

"You know that personally I condemn all criminals and violators of the law, and have no sympathy with them. My feelings in this regard are the same as yours, and particularly do I feel so concerning the facts surrounding these cases and San Francisco at the present time. But an indictment is brought before us. The question is raised and we are compelled to pass upon it. In my opinion and the opinion of my associates that indictment entirely fails to state a public offense."

"We came to this conclusion after careful study and consideration of all the authorities. Some of us have had considerable experience in criminal law, not only in a practice of twenty-one years, but with nine or ten years on the bench, and we did not come to our conclusions hastily."

"I can say that personally I was never more positive of the correctness of a decision in my life than I am of the correctness of the legal proposition discussed in the Schmitz case."

"I know your ideas of the character of a judge are such that you would not respect him if he should depart from his honest opinion merely to please the public. I considered it my duty to interpret the law as I saw it. Even if by so doing I should lose your good opinion and the good opinion of all my friends."

"I must do my duty or resign. I never yet have shirked a duty if I knew it, nor have I ever written a decision with any other view than to be correct on the law."

AWAIT HIGHER COURT.
"You express profound regret and chagrin that I should have taken any part in such a decision. This regret, no doubt, arises from the fact that you do not agree with the decision as to the indictment. I believe your character and standing to be such that you would feel profound regret if you knew that I took part in a decision contrary to my honest conviction. If I had done so and you knew it, you could not respect me. I would have no right to your respect or to the respect of anyone else."

"I will concede you the right to disagree with the views I take of the law, but you, too, may be mistaken. Let us wait until the matter is passed upon by the higher court. There certainly was nothing in the case or the facts or the parties to create on my part the least sympathy for the defendant. On the other hand, there was everything—our city, its good name, the outrageous grafting by those involved—to cause me to feel that the guilty should be punished. Such are and were my feelings, yet they did not cause me to interpret the statute contrary to my views upon it as a lawyer."

HOPES FOR RESPECT.
"I am sure that upon a further consideration you will conclude that the decision is the law, or, in any event, that it is what we believe to be the law. In case you do not, and I have lost your regard and respect for pursuing my duty as I see it, yet it will not change me. As long as my name continues to be affixed to a decision it will be done without fear of consequences. If I could not do so I would resign. If by so doing so I cannot be re-elected, so let it be."

"Believe me, with highest regard for you personally,
"Very truly yours,
"J. A. COOPER."

FIRST LETTER TO JUDGE.
Following is the letter which Attorney Hutchinson wrote to Judge Cooper.

"January 13, 1908.
"Hon. James A. Cooper, Presiding Justice District Court of Appeals, 1420 Sutter street, City."

"Dear Sir—In the fall of 1905 I was a very active advocate of your election to the office which you now hold. I prepared, signed with my own hand and mailed to the voters of Palo Alto, Stanford and Mayfield about 1300 circulars in the form enclosed. Those precincts are usually Republican, at least three to one, and that year all the Republican candidates except your opponent were elected by about that majority. But in your case we completely overturned that majority and voted for you three to one against your opponent."

"I am now confronted with the decision in the Schmitz case, especially that part declaring that blackmail as practiced by Schmitz and Ruel is no crime and I am called to account by my friends which I induced to vote for you."

"I have read and reread that portion of the decision in the eager hope that I might discover in it something that would explain, justify or at least excuse, the conclusion arrived at. But the search has been hopeless."

"Pardon me for expressing to you my profound regret and chagrin that you rectness of the legal proposition discussed in the Schmitz case.

BANK SUSPENDS; SUMMON POLICE

Private Bank in Chicago
Forced to Wait by Creditors, Make Assignment.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The private bank of A. C. Tisdale suspended payment to depositors today. A call was sent to police headquarters for officers to quell disturbances around the office, but there was no trouble of any kind.

A notice was posted on the door of the institution early today declaring that the bank had made an assignment for the benefit of its creditors to Charles A. Post.

The liabilities are given as $75,000 and the assets as $85,000.

Archbishop Riordan Is on Way to Naples

ROME, Jan. 22.—Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, and his secretary, Rev. D. O. Crawley, left this city today for Naples.

"Very respectfully yours,
"J. C. HUTCHINSON."
HUTCHINSON'S REPLY.

On Thursday of last week Attorney Hutchinson again wrote to Judge Cooper. This letter follows.

"January 16, 1908.
"Hon. James A. Cooper, Presiding Justice of the District Court of Appeals, First District, 1420 Sutter street, City."

"Dear Sir—Yours of the 13th inst. just received. I did not expect you to reply to mine of the 13th inst., which was in the nature of an ejaculatory protest against a letter. Nevertheless I think you are right to reply, especially as I know you have replied to letters complimenting you on the same decision."

"I have never before written a letter to a judge commenting upon a decision in which he had taken part, and I ordinarily would consider such a course highly unprofessional. During twenty-five years' practice I have always remained silent in the face of decisions, however adverse, even in some cases where I was perfectly well aware that improper influence behind the scenes had prevented me from obtaining justice. But in this case the situation is different from anything I have ever experienced. The very air seems to be full of a revolutionary feeling. At the universities, clubs, in the trains, on the streets and in the home. I find no one (except the friends, connections and lawyers of the grafters) speak with anything but emphatic protest against this decision so far as it relates to the validity of the indictment."

NOT PERSONAL.
"I have cast no personal reflections upon yourself. The attack is upon the atmosphere environment of a statement which could lead a man of your integrity and intelligence to honestly believe that such a decision could be correct; and if the Supreme Court should unanimously hold the same, that would, according to my view, only make the matter so much the worse."

"Very respectfully yours,
"J. C. HUTCHINSON."

Judge Cooper's letter was read at a meeting held Monday night by the League of the Republic, an organization of University of California law students. Following the reading of the letter three professors of the department of jurisprudence of the university discussed it at some length. They were Professor G. H. Boker, Prof. O. K. McMurray and Professor A. M. Kidd. All three of the professors criticized the decision of the Appellate Court, though admitting that it had much in it that was right, and that the case was so involved that a close decision was inevitable.

The Swine and the Flower
Oh me! I saw a huge and loathsome sty,
Wherein a drove of wallowing swine
were bared,
Whose banquet shocked the nostril and the eye;
Then spake a voice, "Behold the source of filth!"
I fled, and saw a field that seemed at first
One glistening mass of roses pure and white,
With dewy buds 'mid dark green foliage
nursed;
And, as I lingered o'er the lovely sight,
The summer breeze, that cooled that Southern scene,
Whispered, "Behold the source of CORTOLENE!"

WHITEHAIRED GRANDMOTHER WEDS YOUTH 'TO STOP TALK'

DES MOINES, Jan. 22.—David Louis Buncie, 21 years old, was married here to Delilah Broyles, 50 years of age, hair white as snow, and mother of nine children and grand-mother of twelve. The bride is three years under the age of the bridegroom's mother.

Buncie became acquainted with the widow when he went to her home with her own sons of his age. At the wedding Buncie was accompanied by one of these boys as best man. The bride's married daughter was her bridesmaid. The youth has as yet secured no profession or line of life work.

His mother is satisfied as she says he thinks his wife will be a mother to him. The bride has an unmarried daughter old enough to have been Buncie's bride.

Mrs. Broyles' husband died seven years ago in the south. She is a devout Christian woman. Referring to the wedding she said: "I am marrying him more because I want to be a mother to him. He has been hanging around the house here the past year, and if I don't marry him people will be apt to talk."

Mrs. Broyles is not wealthy.

DEAD FIREMAN IS BORNE TO LAST RESTING PLACE

Funeral of C. J. Baccus, Who Was Fatally Hurt by Fall, Held Today From Family Home.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the funeral of substitute fireman Clinton James Baccus was held from the bereaved home, 337 Fallon street under the auspices of Oakland Aerie No. 7, F. O. E., of which deceased was a member. A large number of fellow lodge men, friends and acquaintances were in attendance and the home in Fallon street was filled with floral pieces sent as a token of respect and esteem by those who had known the young man in his life time. Following simple services at the Baccus home, the remains were moved to the Church of the Immaculate Conception where the last sad rites were performed by Father Kennedy. The church services were followed by interment in St. Mary's Cemetery.

MOTHER IS PROSTRATED.
During the services in the home in Fallon street, Mrs. Baccus, mother of deceased, was so overcome with emotion that it was with difficulty her convulsive fits could be quieted. When the handsome casket containing the remains of her son were being borne from the house, she gave way to her feelings and although able to attend the church services, she is in a prostrate condition.

SKULL WAS FRACTURED.

Clinton James Baccus was the son of Benjamin and Theresa Baccus, a brother of Councilman William J. Baccus and Cella Baccus and Mrs. Agnes Sturms. He was a native of San Francisco and was but twenty-five years and six months of age. He has been a member of Oakland Aerie No. 7, F. O. E., and had a large circle of friends and acquaintances in this city. He sustained the injury which resulted in his death Saturday night by falling through a trap door at the sixth street engine house, sustaining a fracture of the base of the skull. He was operated on at the Receiving hospital by Dr. Irwin who from the first held out no hopes for the recovery of the young man.

Baccus was unmarried and lived with his parents in the Fallon street home. His untimely death proved a deep blow to his parents and other relatives and was learned with regret by all who had known him. The pallbearers were M. T. Doody, William R. Brackett, Merton Carroll, John Mulligan, Andrew Hanlon and Charles Kipke, all life long friends of deceased.

DISPUTE ARISES OVER SELECTION

Interesting Contest Result of Race for Representative From Ireland.

DUBLIN, Jan. 22.—The Dublin Gazette, an official paper, in announcing last night that fact that Lord Curzon of Kedleston received a majority of the votes at the recent election for a representative peer of Ireland, studiously refuses to commit itself to the statement that he has been elected, and apparently recognizes the possibility of a contest by placing on record the fact that Lord Ashton was second in the race. The Gazette goes so far as to point out that Lord Curzon's name does not appear to lie with those qualified to vote on such occasions.

Lord Curzon's candidature for the vacancy created among the Irish Representative Peers by the death of Lord Kilmaine is the most interesting recent event in Irish politics. In his letter to the Irish Peers Lord Curzon explained that his health would not permit him to enter the House of Commons, and that he is prevented from entering the House of Lords by the ordinary channels by the Prime Minister's refusal to allow him to take his place with all other ex-Viceroy of India.

SAYS HUSBAND BEAT HER ON REFUSING HIM MONEY

Claims He Wanted Coin for Horse Races

BERKELEY, Jan. 22.—Mrs. A. S. Moyce, the pretty young wife of A. S. Moyce, a stereotypist, employed in San Francisco, who resides at 2927 Otis street, telephoned the police at an early hour this morning, stating that her husband was beating her and beseeched them to come to her assistance. Policeman Leonard was hurriedly detailed to the scene and with the assistance of the wife, placed Moyce under arrest. He was booked first on a charge of disturbing the peace, but this charge was withdrawn later and a charge of battery was substituted.

Mrs. Moyce stated that she had a little money of her own saved up and that her husband wished to bet it on the horse races. Upon her refusal to disburse the secret hiding place of the coin he commenced to maltreat her, she says.

WAX EXPLOSION BURNS CONTRACTOR SERIOUSLY

John White, a well-known contractor and politician, was badly burned today the face this morning by an explosion of turpentine in a can of wax that he was carrying.

White was at work in a house that is being built in Piedmont. The wax had been heated so as to render it liquid and White was carrying it in his hand when it suddenly ignited. The flames shot all over his face, burning it severely. White drove to the Receiving Hospital, where Seward Berchert dressed his burns.

SLOW PROGRESS IN SEWER WORK BRINGS COMPLAINT

Complaints from the Oakland Traction Company in regard to the slow progress of the sewer construction work under its tracks at First and Grove streets, and First and Webster streets, supplemented by a report from Superintendent of Streets Ott that work had been stopped at these points, induced the Board of Works to summon Manager Fred of the Sunset Construction Company before the meeting this morning and question him about the future conduct of the work.

Eved stated that the company is still driving piles on First street, and that the work would be continued. He asked for an extension of time on the contract, and he was informed that this request would be granted if the contract is pushed ahead.

RAINY DAY MAKES RECORD FOR DIVORCE DECISIONS

Judge Ellsworth had no cases on his calendar yesterday, and as it was raining he stayed in Alameda, and worked on cases that had been submitted to him for decision. As a result he handed down nine divorce decrees this morning, which is the record for one judge in one day in this county.

The decrees granted were as follows: Enos Ross against Charles A. Ross, cruelty; Carrie L. Aine against Harry Aine, desertion; Mark A. Durham against Maude L. Durham, desertion; Hazel Wrampelmeier against E. L. S. Wrampelmeier, cruelty; Frances Martin against John B. Martin, cruelty; William H. Lawson against Elizabeth Lawson, fidelity; Mary J. Weir against George L. Weir, desertion; Frances E. Laughlin against Lester H. Laughlin, desertion; W. W. Allen against Jennie Allen, desertion.

Dr. F. F. Jackson, chairman of the Wharves and Waterfront Committee, will call a "hurry-up" meeting tonight at his office, 1173 Market street. The subject of discussion will be relative to municipal harbor improvements, but Dr. Jackson declined to state this afternoon the exact nature of business that will be taken up. The councilman has asked the mayor to call a special meeting of the city council for tomorrow night.

GERMAN SOLDIERS FLOCK TO HEAR COURT-MARTIAL

Counts Are on Trial for Abusing Authority

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The trial by court-martial of Counts Von Hohenhausen and Lyndar, arising out of the articles published in Die Zukunft by Maximilian Harden and the subsequent Harden-Von Moltke libel suit, opened today before five judges under the presidency of General Von Loewenfeld.

The military court was ordered by Emperor William, as General Von Loewenfeld is a member of His Majesty's military staff. There were 130 witnesses present who were composed mostly of troopers, guardsmen and members of other cavalry regiments, stationed at Potsdam.

After reading the charge accusing the prisoners of abuse of their authority the court room was cleared and will not be re-opened until a verdict is reached.

Maximilian Harden, according to his physician, is suffering from appendicitis. He did not appear in court today.

'YOU LIE,' SAYS BERKELEY OFFICIAL TO COUNCILMAN

Lively War of Words Follows Accusations

BERKELEY, Jan. 22.—Trustee Neils Olsen and Superintendent of Streets L. Q. Turner engaged in a lively tilt last night at the meeting of the Board of Trustees, and the result was a war of words over accusations made by Olsen at a recent meeting of the board that Superintendent Turner managed his department so badly that he had a foreman for each gang of two or three men working about town, who stood about doing nothing but simply giving orders. Olsen stated that the foreman over one gang in West Berkeley found the time hanging so heavily on his hands that he frequently went out and played ball with a gang of school boys on some vacant lots adjoining the street where his men were working. When information of the accusation reached Superintendent Turner he was on hand at the meeting. Just before the meeting broke up Olsen inadvertently broached the subject again.

Turner retorted, "You are telling what is not true," said the Superintendent of Streets to the trustee from the Seventh ward. "When you say that my foremen loaf and play ball during working hours, you lie."

Interference of the other members of the board, who hastily adjourned the meeting, closed the incident.

CLAIMS SISTERS PERSECUTE HER

Attorney Declares Attempt is Being Made to Railroad Woman to Asylum.

"There will be a big thing in it for you if you help send my sister to an insane asylum," is what Attorney E. E. Huffaker accuses Mrs. Lizzie Hoskins of saying to him with reference to Mrs. Ella Baines, who is now in the insane ward of the Receiving Hospital, awaiting an examination as to her sanity.

Mrs. Baines has property in Melrose, and is believed to have much more property by her sisters. One of them, who is a spiritualist medium in Salt Lake City, has joined Mrs. Hoskins in what Huffaker calls "an outrageous attempt to railroad Mrs. Baines into an asylum to get control of her property."

Mrs. Baines said today that she had not seen her sisters for twenty-six years, and did not know whether Mrs. Hoskins was a relative of her or not. "She says she's my sister, but I don't know whether she is or not. She and the other one are trying to get my property, but they can't do it. I'm no more crazy than you are. I may take a drink or two, but I've seen plenty of society ladies in Oakland and San Francisco get too much liquor aboard."

SAYS SHE'S NOT CRAZY.
Mrs. Baines was taken to the insane ward at the instance of Mrs. Hoskins, who threatened to kill her and has hallucinations. Warden Page of the hospital, who has care of the insane patients, says she has been drinking, but is not crazy. She will be examined before Judge Waste by Drs. Dolsworth and Knox.

Once before, according to Huffaker, an attempt was made by Mrs. Hoskins to railroad Mrs. Baines into an asylum.

FOR SALE $500 DOWN

Here is a proposition that seems almost too good to be true!

This splendid 8-room house, with bath and two toilets, will be ready for sale tomorrow for $4000—$500 down and $50 a month.

Three of the upstairs rooms are rented to an elderly couple for $25 a month who will gladly stay if the purchaser so desires.

This practically makes the cost to the purchaser only

$25 A MONTH
But listen to this: The house would cost $3500 to build; the lot is worth at least $1050 (figuring $35 a foot); property is going up all around at the rate of 20 per cent a year; you own a $4550 home right at the start and there is no telling how high values will soar in this section before 1908 is over.

And now, ladies, here is the part that will interest you. The kitchen is close to the front door (no long run to answer the door bell)—the laundry is off the kitchen (no drafts, no damp steps, no lugging wet clothes in or out a musty basement)—a patent air cooled ventilated provision pantry is built right into the kitchen (no ice man's bill, no meat safe required).

The dining room is paneled in that rich soft old Mission style which so beautifully harmonizes with pretty china, brass and silver—a plate or stein rack extends all around and a great oak fireplace with massive pillars sets off the room in a manner no words of printer's ink can describe. On either side are art closets for china and all around are the little comforts to be found only in a home planned by a woman.

In the back yard is a store-house and a place for chickens.

The residence has an air of roomy comfort, of eminent refinement, of modern sanitary equipment; it is a perfect "home place" for a man and family.

It is within one block of the Grove street cars, two blocks of Shattuck avenue cars and five blocks of the 55th street Key Route depot (30 minutes to S. F.)—dry goods, grocery, vegetable, drug, creamery, ice, coal, clothing and all sorts of dealers within walking distance, so you don't have to depend upon peddlers.

The closets are very large, gas stove goes with the kitchen—lot 30x100—house on east side of paved and sidewalk street so that the sun pours in at the back in the morning while you work and in at the front in the afternoon while you rest.

This house MUST be sold tomorrow. No reasonable offer refused. Salesmen will be here at 8:30 a. m.

Rev. Macfarlane's Reform Methods.

Rev. P. C. Macfarlane of Alameda is again in eruption. Periodically the reverend gentleman breaks out in flame and sulphur, smoke and fiery language, and emits showers of heated words and broken fragments of the Ninth Commandment, which says "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." Mr. Macfarlane's great deep is stirred against the Appellate Court and the Alameda county government—he is a reformer who takes no note of relevancy or facts. For the first he presents virtuous intention and for the second the fruits of a vivid if untrained imagination. He is convinced the Appellate judges are crooks and the Alameda county officials lineal descendants of Ali Baba's forty thieves.

Rev. Macfarlane's conception of justice and fairness in judicial process was illustrated by the proceedings in a petty case tried before City Justice R. B. Tappan about two years ago. One J. W. Rew was arrested at the instigation of Rev. Macfarlane for violating a silly ordinance, which has since been repealed, making it a misdemeanor to sell cigarettes in the city of Alameda. In one of his periodical inflammatory moods, Mr. Macfarlane conceived the impression that the peace and order of Alameda were endangered and the immortal souls of its inhabitants put in imminent peril by the sale of a few packages of cigarettes. The more he thought of it the more he became convinced that cigarettes were the original fruit of good and evil that Eve plucked and gave Adam in the Garden of Eden, and the more noisy became his protests against the community being eternally damned by the noxious and iniquitous cigarette, the devil's first and most lasting device to ensnare the souls of men and wreck their faith in all that is good and true and vociferous in religion.

As before stated he had Rew arrested. The jury disagreed in the first trial. In the second a young man—a member of Rev. Macfarlane's congregation—named Lewis McGlauffin, serving as a special deputy constable, summoned the venire from which the jury was to be chosen. A. F. St. Sure, attorney for the defense, challenged the panel on the ground of bias and prejudice.

Young McGlauffin was sworn and asked how he came to act as a special deputy in summoning the jury. He said he was appointed at the instance of Rev. Macfarlane, who came to his house and woke him up at six o'clock in the morning to tell him he must summon the right sort of men to serve on the jury.

"Was it not understood between you that only men who would favor conviction were to be summoned?" asked Mr. St. Sure.

"Yes, that is what I understood," answered McGlauffin.

"And you summoned the venire with that understanding," inquired St. Sure.

"I did."

Of course the panel was dismissed and a new venire issued, which McGlauffin did not serve. The defendant was finally acquitted, but that is not the point of the story. What interests us here is Mr. Macfarlane's idea of the propriety of getting a jury prepared in advance to convict a defendant brought to trial at his instigation.

Apparently the reverend gentleman believes the Appellate Court should have sanctioned the methods he attempted to practice in Alameda. But there are others who hold to the same view. A great many think that juries in certain cases should be summoned to convict regardless of the law and the evidence, and who rail at the courts for not lending themselves to jury-packing in the name of reform.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler and James D. Phelan find different uses for "moral grounds." Wheeler says the Appellate Court should have affirmed the Schmitz judgment on moral grounds. Phelan advocates assassination on moral grounds. Wheeler prates about the "higher law" to justify setting aside the written law while Phelan mouths about the "unwritten law" authorizing the murder of men on their own doorsteps. Both these worthies preach pure anarchy. To gain their ends they would degrade the courts and destroy the validity of all law. They unite in denouncing the Appellate Court for declaring the law as it is written and refusing to treat it as plastic material to be stretched and contracted at will to fit special cases or local conditions. Coming from the head of the State University, Wheeler's reflections on the Court of Appeals is an affront to public decency as well as an impertinent intrusion into the administration of justice. As to Phelan he was one of the men who turned the graft crusade into an immunity bargain sale with crooks, hoodlums and grafters, compounding felonies by the score in return for testimony that would disgrace and imprison capitalists of high repute to gratify ignoble revenges and further piratical financial schemes.

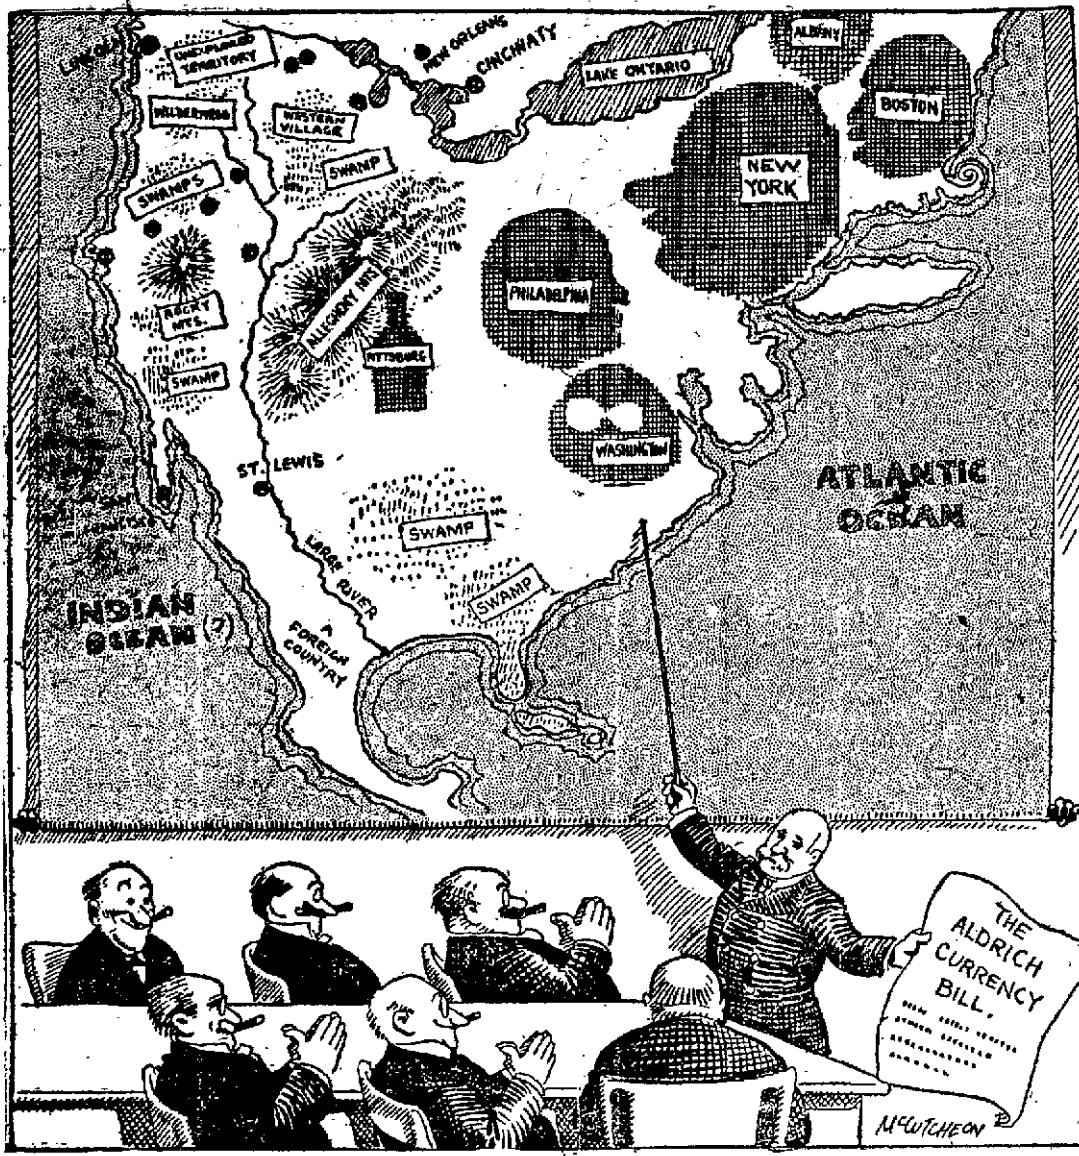

Anti-Battleship Fleet Plot.

The Paris story about the hatching there of an alleged plot to tow up some of the battleships in the fleet now at Rio and its accidental discovery, is, at best, very hazy; but the War Department seems to have believed it, when notified of it, and to have taken every precaution to prevent the consummation of the deed, while the Brazilian government has taken enough stock in it to arrest several suspects. If a plot was really formed and the material to carry it out shipped, as stated, to Rio, it must be put down as the rashest kind of enterprise in which to embark, because of the apparently insurmountable difficulties which its projectors would be sure to encounter under the most favorable conditions in attempting to execute it. That it was a crack-brained conspiracy is evident from the fact that there could be no rational motive for its concoction. It may be too far-fetched to suspect that it was gotten up solely as a scheme which might create a panic in the Navy Department or in Congress and result in the fleet being ordered to return to home waters at once. If that was its purpose, it has signally failed, for no one responsible for the cruise has been scared in the least degree.

Carnegie's gift of $12,000,000 to endow a Pittsburgh technical school has been severely scored by R. P. Crane, a Chicago millionaire, who holds that a technical education is best obtained in the workshops and that Carnegie's money might as well have been thrown into the sea for all the practical good it will do. Carnegie's retort is short and to the point, as follows: "The apprenticeship system is a thing of the past. What do you propose as a substitute? The best one, and the one better than the original, is to give instructions to young men in technical schools."

That acrid fountain of political misinformation, the Watsonville Pajaronian, says Max Popper will give Gavin McNab the fight of his life for the leadership of the Democratic party next fall. This is hilarious news. Max can't even lead the has-beens. He never

Selfish Interests Bar the Lowering of the Philippine Tariff

The Washington correspondent of The Tribune says that Secretary Taft will again plead with congress to lower the tariff on Philippine sugar and tobacco and that congress will again disregard the request. The prediction that congress will be deaf to a just request is disagreeable reading, but it may come true. Whenever a measure comes up in congress which is opposed by selfish interests and is supported only by reasons based on statesmanlike philanthropy and elementary justice it usually is defeated.

The best sugar producers and tobacco raisers who are opposed to a change of duties on Philippine products have been assured by the ways and means committee that no action is to be taken without giving them a hearing. That is merely an excuse for delay. There is no need of hearings. There has been no change in conditions. Since the last congress, when the whole subject was gone into exhaustively, there is nothing new to be said on either side. There is no reason why the ways and means committee should not report a bill when congress reassembles and why it should not be put through the house at so early a date as to leave the senate no excuse for not acting on it.

It is said that the Philippine committee in the senate has been packed to stifle legislation in the interest of the islands.—Chicago Tribune.

The Gyroscope to be Employed to Steady Ships When at Sea

The purchase of the German rights of the Schlick gyroscope by the Hamburg-American line foreshadows the near practical use of this invention for averting the rolling of ships at sea. Experiments made with the device on the Seebae, a discarded German torpedo boat, proved its practicability, the vessel's arc of oscillation in a rough sea being speedily reduced from thirty degrees to one degree. It is the Hamburg Company's intention to equip its North Sea and Channel boats with the apparatus. If effective there, the time will be brought near when the sea will be robbed of one of its terrors.—New York World.

Ancient Symbols Used When English Mayors Are Installed in Office

Some of the many symbols of mayoralty which have just changed hands are of greater intrinsic and historic interest than the civic mace and the golden collar, generally regarded as the only insignia of chief magistracy. The Mayor of Lincoln, however, is inducted into office by the placing upon his finger of the ancient gold ring which his predecessors have worn for centuries. The ring itself has also a curious power, for when the Mayor sends it to any school in the city's boundary the schoolmaster is bound to give his pupils a holiday for the day. At Chichester the Mayor is similarly married to his duties by an ancient turban ring. Chichester also arms its Chief Magistrate with a gold-mounted mace of office, while the Mayor of Guildford carries the stik presented to the borough by Queen Elizabeth. At York both the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress are equipped with the silver-mounted oak staves which have marked their authority for centuries. Among the official retainers of the Mayor of Ripon is the municipal horn-blower, who every night at 9 o'clock winds three blasts upon this aged musical instrument before the Mayor's residence and again at the market cross.—London Chronicle.

Takes great pleasure in extending a cordial invitation to its patrons and all lovers of the HOUSE BEAUTIFUL to inspect the bungalow just nearing completion in

Linda Vista Terrace, known as CASA REPOSO

No effort has been spared to make this bungalow complete and beautiful in every detail.

A few features of the house are the broad terrace of Venetian cement tile, extending the full width of the house; next the large living room 14x23, well lighted by eight large windows, with an old English beamed ceiling 13 feet high. From the rafters are suspended three lanterns. A large open hearth and settee give a touch of cosiness to this room. The dining room, connected with the living room by an arch, contains combination sideboard and china closet. This room is paneled in leather with Tudor Rose design, while a frieze of the same design fills in the space between the stein shelf and plate shelf. The kitchen is designed with a view of making this department of housekeeping as simple as possible and is a model of its kind. The three bedrooms and bathroom are reached through a hall, and this part of the house can be cut off from the rest as completely as though it were two-story.

In order to give every one an opportunity to view this beautiful home, it has been decided to extend the time of reception to three days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 23, 24 and 25—between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m. and for those unable to attend in the day time, between the hours of 7 and 9:30 Friday evening.

Cards will be mailed upon telephonic request.

GEO. A. KNIGHT IS OUT FOR TAFT

Member of National Republican Committee Declares for the Secretary.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—George A. Knight, member of the Republican National Committee from California and member of the executive committee of that body, has declared himself for William H. Taft for President.

Some time ago Knight came out for Roosevelt for a third term. When the President declined to run again it was rather supposed that Knight might hold aloof with the Republican "organization" in California, which manifestly does not intend to accept Taft if Herrin and Harriman can help it. But he has come out kerplunk for Taft.

"I'M OUT FOR TAFT."
"Yes, I'm for Taft. I did tell Jack Hammond so, and I've told others the same. Hammond and I were at school together in Oakland and that is how he came to ask me as a personal favor to stand in for Taft. So I let him know I was for Taft and that's all there is to it."

Possibly this declaration will moderate the opposition of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League to Knight as a delegate to the National Convention, as the League has formally declared for Taft. Some of the extremists were going to oppose Knight because he was supposed to be tied up to the "organization."

Knight now is officially a resident of Eureka, his old Humboldt county home,

CHAPERONE UPSETS CIGARETTES OFFERED TO HER GIRLS

Women From Glen Falls Didn't Understand the Ways of the "Great White Way."

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—It was after the second act of a recent performance at the Herald Square Theater the lobby was filled with a thrifty crowd. Most of it was making its way toward a door to an adjacent refectory, in front of which stood a uniformed boy with a tray loaded with cigarettes of various brands offered as a compliment to the theater goers. When the tide of travel in that direction was thickest a group of six young women appeared.

Following the crowd in traditional fashion the boys of beauty eventually approached the tray and the cigarettes. He held out his tray to them as he had to everybody else. In the vanguard of the group was a chaperone. The cigarettes came into close juxtaposition with her nose. She did not appreciate the hospitality.

"What do you mean by offering my girls cigarettes?" she exclaimed, and with a quick twist of her closed fist she sent the tray and its contents circulating about the lobby. The curtain on the next act had arisen before the tray, the cigarettes and the boy had regained their station.

It was all a misunderstanding of the way things are done in New York. The boys of beauty consisted of six young women from Glen Falls and only two of them had ever braved the perils of the metropolis. The sextette consisted of the Misses Beale Van Trump, Rachel Robinson, Angela Hacket, Grace V. Bush, Mae Bergeron and Ruth Lane. The chaperone, Mrs. M. I. Giudice, is of this city.

They are seeing New York, and they have not only an exceeding confidence in themselves, but a bucolic superiority to the allurements of the "great white way," which is in a sense admirable. Arriving here at about 7 o'clock last evening they appeared to own the town before an hour had passed. Not long ago a newspaper in Glen Falls offered a prize of a ten days' visit to the metropolis to the winners of a "popularity contest," to be decided in six weeks in the counties of Warren, Washington and Saratoga. The largest number of votes were obtained by Miss Van Trump—118,002—and the total was more than a million.

Arriving at the Grand Central Station early last evening, the party was met by Mrs. Giudice and escorted to the Hotel Cumberland, where the dinner was served. Then the Herald Square Theater was visited seats having been reserved for them in advance. No less than eight other performances awaited them by invitation during their stay in the city but all the time will not be spent inside the doors of theaters. They have been invited to Blackwell's Island, to Ellis Island, to the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and special trips to Chinatown and other parts of Manhattan have been arranged.

HAPPY THOSE WHO LOVE THEE!

Happy are they who kiss thee, morn and even Parting the hair upon thy forehead white,
For them the sky is bluer and more bright
And purer their thanksgivings rise to heaven
Happy are they to whom thy songs are given
Happy are they on whom thy hands alight,
And happiest they for whom thy prayers at night
In tender piety so oft hath striven
Away with vain regrets and selfish sighs—
Ever I dear friend am lonely not unblest
Permitted sometimes on that form to gaze,
Or feel the light of those consoling eyes
If but a moment on my cheek it stays
I know that gentle beam from all the rest!

Titled Woman Furnishes Houses

Lady Auckland is one of England's many titled women in business. She has opened a furnishing and decorating establishment and is said to attend personally to her business. Her field is extraordinarily large, since she has many friends in England's wealthy circles, and they have many houses and country places to furnish and refurbish. Lady Auckland not only attends to business in the shop but looks up new business in the shop but looks up new business outside the shop and expects to make a thriving establishment out of her venture.

ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTE PLEADS FOR EQUALITY OF SEX

Mrs. Cobden Sanderson Addresses Mixed Gathering During Wintry Cold in Madison Square.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—With lips, blue and teeth chattering from the cold, Mrs. A. Cobden Sanderson, the English woman suffragist who came to New York to tell American women of her fall sufferings for the cause said farewell to the faithful last Friday morning in an open-air mass meeting in Madison Square. Several hundred men heard her speech and several promised to support the suffrage movement.

A big truckdriver interrupted the meeting. He was attracted by Mrs. Sanderson's purple picture hat, which showed vividly against the yellow background of the woman's suffrage flag, which backed the speaker's stand. It was several moments before he caught the drift of her remarks.

"No government by women for mine," he shouted, when he realized that she was pleading with men to allow women to vote.

"I am surprised to hear so strong a man speak so selfishly," said Mrs. Sanderson, beaming upon him. "Won't you change your mind?"

No woman in vote as long as I can stop it," he declared. "I had to leave one country because a woman governed it. Never again!"

The number of women out of work, the East Side rent strike and the many crimes of America's rich were Mrs. Sanderson's particular themes in her farewell address.

"There are hundreds of men out of work all over New York," she said. "Conditions are responsible and you can never remedy them till you have with you your sisters. See what the Russian women are doing over on the East Side. They have arisen in their might and declare that they will no longer pay the landlord his exorbitant rents. There never was a successful revolution without women."

I am disgusted with the rich American women, who declare they do not want to vote. I've come to the conclusion that there are two classes of imprisoned women in this country—prisoners of luxury and prisoners of poverty. Both classes need suffrage to save themselves. Women will know better how to use their votes when they get them than does the average man. Equality of sex means the equality of class. It is your protection from the parasite class, the rich.

READY TO GO JAIL AGAIN
I am going back to my own country tomorrow. There I will again suffer for the cause of suffrage. If need be I do not believe in the rich. It is the common people to whom we must look for our rights. Woman suffrage does not mean the emancipation of one country but of half the human race. All over the world women are rising up in their might. Here in New York, I am satisfied that women are coming into the open and that more than ever men are standing by them."

Mrs. Ella Murray Frye followed Mrs. Sanderson on the chilly speaker's stand. She declared that women were the slaves of men as long as they did not have the right to vote. She thought that suffrage would help the sex labor problem.

"If you don't want women to cut wages," she cried, "put her on a bus of equality. Make it a question of labor, not of sex."

IS INTERRUPTED
"No petticoat!"
"Sh-h-h-h!"

A saved-off little man with a silk hat, holding fast to the arm of a tall woman, forced his way into the shivering crowd. He danced up and down with rage when the woman tried to choke him off.

"No petticoat!" he again began but again the woman shook him and shut him up.

Mrs. A. Cobden Sanderson blushed and tried to drown out the commotion. Instinctively every one gathered around the strong-faced adherents of "votes for women."

"No petticoat!" screamed the little man, getting his head under the arm of his wife and at last getting out the rest of his sentence—"no petticoat government in the United States!" Every one and especially those who were supposed to be wearing petticoats looked immensely relieved. Mrs.

Sanderson turned to the little man and quickly replied.

"I'm sorry to hear an American man say that. Where women have nothing to say about government there is no progress."

He faded away immediately.

GOOD CROWD

It was a brave little band that leaned up against the hard side of a chilly wind in the square waiting for the boy who had been sent for the yellow banner and washstand platform. When he arrived a man with an Oscar Wilde the auburn hair and light gray overcoat mounted the washstand and began to speak. He described himself as a magazine writer "who preaches every Sunday night in the Church of the Ascension on Fifth Avenue." His name was Alexander Irvine. He said he wanted his wife to vote and that he thought it one of the wonders of the century that women must come out into the street on a chill January day in order to make men listen to their plea for votes.

Mrs. B. Borgmann Wells another English suffragette bravely mounted the stand and faced the chilled crowd, most of whom were dancing up and down to keep warm.

"A man asked me what women wanted the vote for?" she exclaimed. "I suppose you'll take it home and make a pie of it!" he said. "I told him that if we did I guessed it would be as good as the hash that you men folks have made of the vote when you have taken it up your river here to Albany."

Affinities Freeze in Virtuous Iowa

DES MOINES, Jan. 22.—Mrs. John Cottrell, whose husband represents Plymouth County in the legislature, has withdrawn her suit for divorce in which she named Mrs. Alonzo Hough, of this city as co-respondent.

Mrs. Hough declared that she recognized Cottrell as her soul-mate when never having seen him previously she heard him make an eloquent speech in favor of the two-cent a mile railroad fare bill in the legislature. Mrs. Hough frankly told her husband that she could love only Cottrell.

Mr. Hough, kind man, told his wife to go ahead and divorce him and he went West after advising Mrs. Cottrell not to defy the love-lightning and to get a divorce too.

But Mrs. Cottrell has changed her mind, which is every woman's privilege there is absolutely no ground on which her husband can divorce her, so by withdrawing her suit for divorce she foiled all the plans of her husband and his once affinity.

"Cottrell and his wife are living together again their attorneys say and they say they will be no further legal proceedings. Cottrell has repented of his love outside the family and was forgiven by his wife at a tearful scene when his children heard his pledges of renewed fidelity."

I am sorry I started the suit. Mrs. Cottrell has said.

Hough is still out West and it is said that Mrs. Hough has likewise repudiated Cottrell and that she will join her own hubby and begin their married life over again.

4 BABES as a Christmas Gift

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT THAT?

And Their Father's Name Is LUCK

The startling Christmas gift that was presented to William M. Luck of Rutherford Avenue, Rockville, Md., by his young wife—nothing short of two new baby boys and two new baby girls—quadruplets—has become the talk of the whole State and is now interesting the medical profession all over the country.

The birth of quadruplets is an extremely rare occurrence, there being only one other well remembered similar case that of the Ormsby quadruplets born in Chicago five years ago all of them lived and grew up into healthy childhood.

Luck came in for the greatest chafing on the family pun on his name on Christmas day. There were not less than 1500 visitors to the Luck home on that day and the next day all wanting to see the four babies to which Mrs. Luck born Fannie Overstreet had given birth the evening before just as her husband returned from work.

The mother is remarkably slight and delicate and weighs only ninety pounds. Apparently all four of the babies were healthy but two of them died forty-eight hours after birth. Mrs. Luck is quite well however and the other two babies seem destined to grow up into robust children.

Pompadour Fan Cost $30,000

In the good old days it was the custom at an evening party for the lady to throw down her fans upon a table and the gentlemen would choose partners of picking up the fan of the lady as a favor that she loved best, recognizing the pretty girls that hides her blushes as she would her finger tips or her eyes above it. Naturally the young men of these days become students of fanology and it goes without saying that this fan the Pompadour saw which it was to be famous a fan of which it was written.

Honor Women Who Have Shown Ability

Mrs. Christine Ladd Franklin of Baltimore is to be the chairman of a committee composed of women appointed to make the award to candidates for the Sarah Berliner Research Fellowship for Women. This fellowship is named in honor of the donor's mother and is the foundation for women's research work. Emilie Berliner of Washington one of the perfectors of the telephone and the inventor of the gramophone is announced to have given $12,000 as endowment of a research fellowship for women who have demonstrated their ability to carry on research work in physics, chemistry or biology.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Leach, with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schrock, were seated at one of the pretty tables while A. W. Kirkland, Porter Ashe and L. E. Lucas each entertained a party of friends.

Stretch, Ladies; You'll Be Happier, Not to Say Thinner

A new method has been proposed whereby New York women are to be made happier and better not to say thinner. A crowd of well-dressed women through the studios of Mrs. Clara Z. Moore, 114 West Seventy-second street, New York, and listen with wrapt attention as she expounds to them her theories upon "The Joy of Daily Living."

The secret of the joy of daily living is daily and hourly stretching. Just how far the new stretch system is to go is not known but according to last reports from the front the limit has not been reached. The stretch is advocated in all the daily walks, rides and other occupations of life and is guaranteed to cure quagapela, discontent, red nose, blues, humphback, bad temper and running the shoes over at the heels. It is to be practiced at the disphen in the subway with a bloom and is particularly recommended for the bargain counter and the bridge table.

This conscious stretching and getting all the muscles of the body into every motion, so that every move can be done with grace and economy, is a new and most important, it will have an effect upon their characters and make them a positive joy to themselves and to every one about them.

"We see hundreds of women here whose bodies are little more than moving mounds of discontented flesh. If the world began a gradual system of stretching, it would be a wonderful relief to the millions of fat at the bridge table would not change the only way to bring these bodies back to the human form."

"If you are nervous, stretch. If you lack repose of manner, stretch. If you lack giving a dinner and your husband falls to put in an appearance stretch as you meet the guests and you can carry off the situation gracefully. In fact, at all the crucial moments of life remember the slogan 'Stretch'."

FOR WHOM?

By Edith M. Thomas

For whom those color-beams we cannot see—
The under-red—the over-violet?
For whom the tones that none hath listened yet,
No player yet enthralled in melody?

Those unheard waves of sweetness wander free,
They rise round strings that muted are, to them!
Those beams of color, mute in flower or gem—
They cross our path, on unseen errantry!

The teasing Fancy vainly makes her plea
The eager Sense no clue to these may trace
Shut with the treasures of mysterious space,
They are not for such mortal men as we.

For whom? Who, then, shall turn, at length, the key,
And wander into Beauty we forego?
I dream, those tones shall sound, those colors glow,
For men of subtler sense—men yet to be!

SOPRANO WON HER PASTOR

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—Miss Jennie Johnson, said to be a daughter of a wealthy farmer at Scandia, Minn., has put a figurative wet blanket on a promising romance in which the names of Rev. Karl A. Dannel, pastor of the Irving Park Swedish Lutheran Church, and Miss Mathilda leadin soprano in the choir are mentioned. Incidentally she has caused a flutter of excitement in the congregation with the net result that the pastor has tendered his resignation and that the pretty soprano has severed her relations with the church.

It all came through the pastor forgetting the young woman from Minnesota. Miss Johnson who came to Chicago several weeks ago according to her story was the affia and sweetheart of Rev. Mr. Dannel for nine years and she waited many months for the fulfillment of promises in his letters to come and make her his little bride. Suddenly his letters ceased. Then she came to Chicago.

From a far-away corner in the church Sunday she saw her erstwhile lover leave the pulpit after service. Join the soprano paid a pretty compliment or two, and then accompany her home.

Realizing that her romance had ended, she faintly.

When she regained consciousness members of the flock urged that she lay her case before the Illinois conference of the Augustana synod.

After a hearing the Rev. Mr. Dannel resigned. Meanwhile Miss Johnson has become a member of the nurses class at Lakeview hospital.

It is declared by some members of the church and supporters of Dannel that he resigned too hastily and that the sympathy of the majority of the members of his congregation was with him in forgetting an old romance in the new, and an effort will be made to have him return as pastor. If not, it is said, the church is likely to be disrupted.

FRANKIE NEIL IS TRAINING HARD FOR COMING CONTEST

Attell Inclined to Take Neil Too Easy; Thomas Loses to Sullivan--Gardner in Good Shape.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Only eight more days of training remain for Frankie Neil and Abe Attell, but if indications speak for anything Neil is making good use of every minute of the time in his effort to round into the best possible condition. Attell on the other hand, is around town and appears to be taking things particularly easy.

Abe did not like the idea of going out on the muddy roads of Colma, as he did for his contest with Moran and consequently moved his belongings to town and located at Sam Berger's gymnasium.

Attell, on being asked for his reasons for moving in town, said that he was anxious to do his road work over the smooth roads of the park and that he was anxious to get the home cooking that his wife would prepare for him.

With Neil working like a beaver and Attell neglecting his condition as he certainly is, the uncertainty of the battle is increased and those who are in the habit of placing a bet on the top-heavy favorites, should stop and think for a moment, that unless the clever champion awakens to the fact that he is to have a hard contest he may enter the ring in none too good condition.

Young Corbett in his two battles with Eddie Hanan gave us an idea of what a champion could do both in and out of condition and while Attell is not by any means as lazy as Corbett, he appears to be taking the game little race fighter too easy.

The management of the contest to be held at Dreamland the last day of the month has signed one of the best preliminary contests that has been offered the fans for a long time. Kid Soaler and Johnnie Murphy are to be the contestants and if there is any chance for the contest to be anything but a good one, the writer must confess that he has overlooked it.

Murphy is one of the gamiest and fastest fighting boys that San Francisco has turned out for years and in every contest that he has taken part in the public has been given a good run for their money.

Soaler has become somewhat of a joke in the matchmaking line in San Francisco, as he has been matched with every available like weight in or about the city, without ever going to the ring with any of them.

The fact that he is something of a fighter has not been denied, however, and his winning streak through Billy Snalham has stamped him a good man.

Joe Thomas, as expected, proved too slow for the crafty Jack (Twin) Sullivan at night at Los Angeles and at the end of ten rounds fought he was in a bad way. Thomas was as game as he has proven to be in other fights and tried, with all his speed and strength to offset the lead that the heavier of the Sullivan Twins had on him, but it was of no avail, as his hands were too slow to move and the response that his legs gave to his efforts were feeble.

Thomas injured his left hand in the early rounds of the contest and near the end of the bout two of his teeth were knocked out and if the truth be known it is any kind of a bet that the gentle Mr. Sullivan knocked them out with the sharp elbow that he has habit of bringing back to the opponent's jaw at every opportunity.

Thomas made a bad match when he took on the crafty Sullivan for his first contest with the big fellows, for barring Burns and Johnson, there are few heavyweights in the game that could expect to beat the Twin in a ten round bout with the large gloves.

Billy Papke, the Spring Valley middleweight, hung another scalp to his belt last night when he defeated Walter Stanton, the Point Richmond scrapper in four rounds. Stanton, while appearing in the four round contests at the Reliance Club and in San Francisco never did anything that would entitle him to a chance with the fast coming Papke, but since going to New York he has been doing some good work and it was freely predicted by the Eastern press that he was a coming champion.

Papke and he met last night at Boston in what was supposed to be a twelve-round contest. Papke took the lead right from the jump and with his Terry McGovern rushes he carried the Californian off his feet. The accounts of the battle give Stanton credit for great gameness but he was over-matched and out-classed.

The showing made by Dale Gardner at the last Reliance Club boxing night has boosted that fighter's stock considerably and incidentally speaks well for the manner in which Joe Cabral, his new manager, has handled him.

Cabral had a long talk with Gardner before assuming the responsibility for his condition and the fighter assured him that he would train faithfully and prove to the people that he was a better fighter than he had been given credit for. He certainly did as he promised and is now in a condition for any kind of a contest. The Reliance Club may match Gardner and Maurice Thompson for their next boxing night.

JUDGE NELSON, COPPIT ONLY CHOICES TO SCORE

Shenandoah Heavily Played Delivers Goods for Wise Contingent--Other News of Ring and Paddock.

BY LEE DEMIER.

Yesterday's racing program at Williams Park should have been called a weight-packing contest for sprinters. The only long distance affair on the card was the ast, the others were sprints, and all except one at five and one-half furlongs. The contestants were mostly of the "has been" order and the talent just did manage to put over two choices and some well-played outsiders.

Duke of Orleans proved gamiest of the nondescript bunch which sported and slugs the curtain-raiser. Rice's gelding was off on his toes, and assuming the lead at once kept clear of the mud and the mud. Billy Meyer ran a clever race from a poor beginning and easily took place money from Dardemo. Expectant handed out for a good thing, could never get to the front.

Another hot one was bowled over when Red Bill failed to connect in the second. The best the Bannockburn gelding could do after mauling the mud and the stretch was to finish on the limb. Emma G. after a poor start, gradually overcame the odds and won in a gallop. To San held on to the place.

Oswald Blanche's chestnut filly, Coppit, revealed in the going, and showed a clear pair of hoofs to her field the entire distance in the race for two-year-olds. Opponent held the place safe all the way, and Arreghet Leonard got up in time to peep. Vavette was the morning paddock special, but proved a morning glory.

P. T. Chinn sent Shenandoah to the post first as a saddle in fourth race, which was another high-weight affair for sprinters. Planchon took his mount right to the front and made a show of his field. The "wise set" all had a bet down on the longest gelding and it was a shame to take the money. Curriculum closed well under punishment and out-gamered Harry for the second position. Prince Brutus found the weight too burdensome.

Mitre, the second choice, responded gamely to the odds and finished in a good position. Planchon took his mount right to the front and made a show of his field. The "wise set" all had a bet down on the longest gelding and it was a shame to take the money. Curriculum closed well under punishment and out-gamered Harry for the second position. Prince Brutus found the weight too burdensome.

Judge Nelson brought joy to the hearts of many players in the final race. Bedwell's horse was blocks the best and just un-cannied from wire to wire. The victory was won by the way and disposed of Double Dollars for second place.

Another open card confronts racers today. It is composed of four selling races filled to the limit, one purse affair and the San Pablo Handicap. Both the latter attract shifty funds and give promise of developing into rattling good contests.

The game was never better at Williams Park. Just think of it, thirty-five books have all they can do to handle the business.

Adam Andrew, the well known San Francisco business man and a lover of the thoroughbred was an interested spectator at Williams Park yesterday.

The outside pool-rooms and handbooks gave a solar plexus blow when Joe Stern's Mitre won the five and one-half furlongs dash.

Dove Gordon, George Bennett and William J. Bessett are among the new arrivals at New Orleans.

Shenandoah crossed the firing line smiling. The new recruits from Arcadia were a gleeful lot when they shared the victory.

Manager John McGraw (Muggsy) of the New York base ball club is taking in the game at Arcadia.

Information from Hot Springs is to the effect that Governor Pindall is still undecided about calling an extra session of the Legislature and that in the event he decides to call one, it will not be likely that the lawmakers will convene until late in February or early in March. Unfavorable legislation is enacted, Ocala will not attempt a race meeting this year, is the general opinion.

Lawrence's back again in Oswald Blanche's barn. The noted horseman bought the mare yesterday. Terms private.

Daggle Smith sold Enamoor, a two-year-old chestnut filly, Anselton and Captivate, to A. B. Pomeroy.

W. Hawke lifted the selling price of Shenandoah from $400 to $500. The horse was retained.

It was just a cakewalk for Judge Nelson.

Prince Brutus was heavily played by the followers of owner C. B. Wilson. The Brutus gelding was never in the hunt.

The rail birds nibbled at Jack Kerchival in the fifth race. They kept their tickets.

Jack Paine had no chance with the break.

Elevation to show was where Harry Stover placed his coin.

The judges at New Orleans received a letter the other day from Algerian manager, Percy Williams, now a theatrical magnate, asked Bob to show some friends how he annihilated Corbett. Fitz was in good humor and he promptly responded to the request by calling upon Reggie Williams, a brother of his manager, to stand up and be a victim. Reggie, however, had been there before and knew the power of Fitz's blows, so he said wait a minute, until I get a good stiff bracer. Bob, then walked to the bar and took a good strong drink, but in the meantime slipped a board underneath his vest. Then he stood up like a real fighter and Bob began a circle around him.

"C-R-A-S-H!" went Fitz's left hand into Williams' stomach. The blow sounded as though someone had hit a board fence with a sledge hammer. Williams was toppled over, but he jumped up and laughed until he almost split. Fitz was dancing around with a look of intense pain on his face. The crowd got wise to the board and the laugh was on Fitz.

The stockholders of the Coney Island Jockey Club at their annual meeting, held at the Windsor Arcade in New York Monday, re-elected all of the old members of the board for another year.

Judge Clarence McDowell was again forced to absent himself from the judge's stand at New Orleans on account of illness.

Billy Meyer, who was just beaten a head to take the day's opener, cost Owner Jack Crane $100.

Trainer Charles Snyder thought Deane had a good chance in the first race. He backed up his judgment with a good bet all three ways.

Expectant, the good thing to take the first race went wrong on Professor Slats in the curtain raiser.

Coppit gathered for Oswald Blanche and his friends yesterday.

A BUNCH OF GOOD TALES ABOUT PUGILISTIC STARS

How One Man Fooled the Willy Robert Fitzsimmons--McGovern Dictates Letter to Reagan.

BY T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

"While some pugilists are undoubtedly unlettered men, nearly all of them are cunning enough to conceal this fact," said Billy Roche last night.

"A case in point is Terry McGovern. When he refers to his Alma Mater, generally means Gowanus, where in the young life generally learns to shoot craps, instead of learning to write burning messages or world ideas.

"One day I was watching Terry McGovern closely, and he yanked a letter out of his pocket. It looked like a billet doux from his best girl, and it proved to be. Terry was not there with the reading of this laymosses letter and he got someone to read it for him. Then he felt that it would be the polite thing to reply in kind.

"Johnny Reagan was standing about and Johnny had Terry baffled into the belief that he was a regular pedant and book worm. So Terence fell upon Johnny as his confidante and asked him to reply.

"Well, it was certainly funny. Reagan learned to write his own name some time, but that was about as his knowledge of letters went.

"Sole, Chonny," said Terence; "I got a letter from me goll, and say; she's a pip. Just listen to this, and Terry started an imaginary reading of the letter. He would stop every once in a while to get Reagan's opinion of the gentle strain of the epistle. Then for an answer. 'Now,' said McGovern, 'just start with Dear Patsie.' Reagan began and wrote 'J-o-h-n-n-y.' When he had finished his McGovern began to sail along with a bunch of sweet nothings, but all Reagan's pen would emit was 'J-o-h-n-n-y' or 'R-e-a-g-a-n-y.' When Reagan had finished the letter McGovern looked at it and was puzzled beyond measure. The letter was Greek to McGovern, but the character all looked like a child and Terry took the letter to a childproof and have it tested.

"Terry was assured that the whole letter, when chemically analyzed, was composed of the words 'J-o-h-n-n-y' and 'R-e-a-g-a-n-y.' This made McGovern furious and he rushed back to Reagan.

"Say, Johnny," he yelled; "I thought you said you could write."

"Well, I can," replied Reagan.

"Well, you can't put any medals on yourself for writing, Johnny," continued Terry. "What can you write now?"

"I can write my own name," Terry said, and that's a sight more than I can do, was Reagan's ready reply.

"Robert Fitzsimmons," said Spider Kelly, "is always ready and willing to show how he landed the famous solar plexus on Jim Corbett in Carson City."

"Not so many years ago, his former manager, Percy Williams, now a theatrical magnate, asked Bob to show some friends how he annihilated Corbett. Fitz was in good humor and he promptly responded to the request by calling upon Reggie Williams, a brother of his manager, to stand up and be a victim. URGE IMMEDIATE IMPROVEMENT OF OAKLAND'S WATER FRONT

Chamber of Commerce, in Annual Report, and Harbor Delegation Point Out Value to County of Better Shipping Facilities.

The officers of the Chamber of Commerce for the past year made their annual report last night in conjunction with the report of the Oakland delegation to the late National Rivers and Harbor Congress held in Washington, D. C., December 4-8 through their chairman, Ex-Governor George C. Pardee and Press Representative Charles Breyman.

In the absence of Frank Leach Jr. J. H. Clay took the chair. The outgoing president, Frank Bilger, making his statement recommended that all the other commercial and improvement bodies back up the Chamber of Commerce in its work on the improvement of the Oakland Harbor.

Ex-President Bilger stated that he thought that a naval parade of the ships in the estuary would be a forcible demonstration of the necessity of bettering the waterfront.

In the absence of C. J. Heeseman, Secretary Stearns read the treasurer's report. The receipts for the past year were $13,275.54; expenditures, $13,067.85, leaving a balance of $538.35.

Secretary Stearns made a lengthy report, calling attention to the vast amount of work accomplished during the past year. He said that the increase in manufactured products of the county for the past year over the preceding year was in round figures $30,000,000, and the increase in agricultural products of the county upwards of $2,000,000.

The address of Ex-Governor Pardee was listened to with a great deal of care and attention. He brought out the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is taking immediate action in improving Oakland's waterfront, and pointed out the danger of allowing private interests to gain control. He spoke against delay, advised action before the next session of the Legislature.

Ex-Governor George C. Pardee said: "The National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which convened in Washington on December 3, 1907, had accredited to it nearly 2000 delegates from thirty-three States and Territories."

We are told that it will require five billions of dollars to enlarge and properly equip the railroads of the country so that they will be able to handle the present, let alone the immediate future, business of the country. It will require at least ten years to enlarge the facilities sufficiently to enable them to take care of the business of the country as it is today.

SHOULD USE RIVERS.

Many great rivers, like the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio and others, which formerly were crowded with heavily laden steamboats, today are almost, if not quite, deserted. But now the railroads are unable to do the business we require of them.

It is estimated that it costs twenty-five cents to transport one ton of freight one mile over ordinary dirt roads with animal power; over macadamized roads the cost is ten cents per mile per ton; by rail the cost is from six to eight mills; by canal the cost is three mills per mile; on rivers and lakes of sufficient depth of water to accommodate vessels of fifteen feet draft, the cost is only one mill per mile per ton; while, by sea, where larger vessels can be used, the cost is but half a mill per ton per mile. It will thus be seen that the cheapest transportation for inland business is on deep rivers and lakes.

OAKLAND'S INTEREST.

Improvement and development of the waterfront. In fact, her future depends upon it. For over half a century her waterfront has lain dormant; and Oakland, as her waterfront has lain dormant, has had the opportunities for her advancement and progress that much curtailed. It will not do for this city to permit that waterfront to fall again into the hands of individuals or corporations. A half century of private interest ownership of our heritage has conclusively shown that, in the hands of private fortunes.

FIGHT HER OWN BATTLES.

It is necessary for Oakland to take up her own battles and to see to it that the past fifty years of private monopoly of our waterfront is not duplicated in the next fifty years. The government of the United States has expended large sums of money in improving our harbor, and will spend large sums in the future to make it better than it is. But Oakland must take it upon herself to see to it that the facilities of that harbor, its docks and wharves, are not at monopolized, as they have been for over half a century by individuals and corporations.

Those wharves and docks should be equipped with modern electric cranes so that ships can be quickly and economically unloaded and loaded. Commerce depends, nowadays, upon the quickness and the economy with which merchandise can be moved. There are no such facilities as other modern ports are equipped with. The harbor of San Francisco has not Oakland get them for herself and her future is assured.

Therefore, your delegation is of the opinion that no time should be wasted in the improvement of the so-called "white meat" of our waterfront. It should be improved now. Let there be no hesitancy and no delay.

BRENNAN'S REPORT.

The report of Secretary Charles H. Brennan of the Oakland delegation to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress held at Washington, D. C., December 4, 5 and 6, 1907, reads as follows: "The present of a harbor second to none on the Pacific Coast, with its fifteen miles of available waterfront, which is the only harbor in the world to reach deep water, needs representation in the National Rivers and Harbors Congress in order that the fact that she is interested in the general movement that has been started to educate the congress of the United States to the needs of the country's waterways might be made known to the public. Fourteen spirited citizens were found who volunteered to make the trip, and on Thursday night, November 14, the most of them left for Washington, along an itinerary carefully planned that the most good might be accomplished for Oakland while en route."

At Washington the forces from this city was increased to twenty-four members, which made it possible for California to go upon the floor of the convention with thirty-six delegates. This placed the California group in point of number alone, second to New York and eclipsed even the districts driven by the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio rivers.

ADDRESS BODY.

Ex-Governor George C. Pardee, Bernard P. Miller and George H. Maxwell addressed the congress representatives of California. Dr. Francis J. "Rivers and Harbors Begin in the Mountains" was a brief but wholesome review of this State's attitude toward the waterway matters. Mr. Miller pledged the support of the Athens of the Pacific to the big national movement and his enthusiasm brought forth hearty applause.

ADVERTISE OAKLAND.

From the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and from Albuquerque through El Paso, Houston and Galveston into New Orleans and through the States of the big cotton belt; in Atlanta, Charleston, Charlotte, Louisville and other points, the city of Oakland was systematically advertised in a manner that made the advertisement dignified but effective.

In all we passed through twenty-three States on our trip in the private car El Dorado.

In concluding it might be said that the delegation on harbor work bent, was interested to a man in the things that are being done in other cities and which, by contrast, make our waterfront look so poor.

It became the consensus of opinion that Oakland has still before her a great task and that the people who long for the degree of municipal perfection that it is now possible to reach.

Bernard P. Miller—"The future of our city depends absolutely on our waterfront."

E. C. Sessions—"The National Rivers and Harbors Congress is only second to our United States Congress."

M. J. Layman—"I am thoroughly impressed with the importance of getting a deep water harbor for Oakland and setting it on a good basis."

Ed Webster, chairman of Committee of Progress, predicted that dire revelations would be made in a month or so regarding the harbor and that the people would again lose it. He said that a group of lawyers were plotting to wrest the waterfront away from the city.

In reply to Hugh Cameron, who asked why the Board of Public Works had not yet made a report concerning the improvement of Oakland's water front, M. J. Layman stated that the Board was hurrying the matter as fast as it could. The Board, declared Layman, is trying to get an engineer that is competent and yet upon whom no one has "any strings."

FRANK BILGER'S REPORT.

Frank Bilger in his report said: "No one could have made more of the work of the committee on rivers and harbors for the reason that the question is of such importance, that all of the commercial organizations and officials of both city and county are working for the same proposition. However, this important work should be in the hands of some one who is not a part of the committee and backed up by all of the other commercial organizations."

In order to more effectively advertise Oakland harbor, I would suggest a naval parade in that portion of the harbor, beginning at the southern end thereof, out into the Bay of San Francisco and back again. This parade should be held during the winter or spring season, when all of the vessels from the northern waters are in the harbor.

SECRETARY STERN'S REPORT.

Secretary Edwin Stearns in giving his report cited all the different conventions and delegations that came into Oakland.

During the past year 513 applicants for membership have been elected and 170 names have been dropped from the rolls, making a total gain during the year of 343.

The total membership of the Chamber of Commerce at the present date number 1273.

Very many manufacturers have located here during the year and several are at the present time in conference with a view to locating here.

The increase in manufactured products of the county for the past year over the preceding year was in round figures thirty millions of dollars. The increase in agricultural products of the county was upwards of two millions of dollars.

During the year over 12,000 letters were sent out from the Chamber of Commerce to parties interested in Oakland and Alameda County. While a majority of these letters were people from the East and Middle States, all a great many came from almost every known country.

Several hundred thousand pieces of literature have been sent out from this chamber, and at the present time we are enabled to issue a small pamphlet each month, suitably illustrated, of from five to ten thousand.

At the State Fair in Sacramento in August, Alameda County received the gold medal and a special award as it has done at every exposition and State Fair in which it has had an exhibit during the past six years.

The outlook for 1908, taking into consideration the number of strangers to this section who daily converse with even the most remote seems to be brighter even than in 1907.

HE'LL NOT DODGE IF HONOR COMES

Presidential Candidate Gives His Boomers Assurance of His Intentions to Run.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22.—Governor Hughes last night publicly declared his attitude toward this movement in favor of his nomination for the Presidency in a letter to James S. Lehman of New York acknowledging the notification of the resolution of endorsement recently passed by the Republican Club, and appointed Friday evening of next week for a meeting with the club, at which he intimates he will still more definitely declare himself.

"It is my desire that the sentiment of the party shall have the freest expression and that such action shall be taken as will be for its best interests, and shall I attempt to influence the selection of any delegates. The State Administration must continue to be impartial and must not be tributary to any candidacy, must not have any interest in any factional controversy and desire above all things that there shall be deliberation, honest expression of the party will and harmony of effort."

"I cannot fail to recognize the great honor which the nomination would confer or the obligation of service which it would impose. Nor should I care to be thought looking in appreciation of the confidence and esteem which prompt the efforts of those who sincerely desire to bring it about. The matter is one for the party to decide, and whatever the decision I shall be content."

CATHOLICS UNDER U. S. FLAG NUMBER 22,018,898

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 21.—There are 13,774,421 Roman Catholics in the United States, according to the advance sheets of the 1908 Wiltzias Catholic directory, published in this city. These figures show an increase of 788,092 over last year. Including the Catholic population of the Philippines, which amounts to 7,000,000, and adding the 1,000,000 Catholic population of Porto Rico and the 36,000 Catholics of the Hawaiian Islands, the entire Catholic population under the American flag amounts to 22,018,898. All figures are submitted to the directory published by the various archbishops and bishops.

INVITES VISITING AD MEN TO ATTEND SHOW AT ORPHEUM

The following letter was received by the chairman of the Ad Men's entertainment committee:

"Pacific Coast Advertising Men's Association. Chairman Entertainment Committee, Dear Sir: In behalf of Mr. M. Meyerfeld Jr., president of the Orpheum Company, permit me to extend to your association the courtesy of the Oakland Orpheum Theater during the convention, and to say that we have reserved a sufficient number of boxes in the theater to accommodate the visiting members of the Advertising Men's Association at the performance on Wednesday evening, January 22."

Yours truly, "Resident Manager."

The members of this association voted to accept the invitation at the meeting held yesterday afternoon and the Orpheum Company have to Secretary Hyatt of the local Ad Club fifty box seats for this evening. The advertising men and their wives will thus occupy all the seats in the boxes on the right hand side of the theater.

STAIRWAY FALLS ON LABORER; BADLY HURT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—While at work on the old Hall of Justice at Washington and Kearny streets at 10:45 this morning, William Beatty, a welder, was fatally injured through the falling of a heavy iron stairway. Beatty was walking along the stairway when it fell on his back. He was hurried to the Harbor Hospital where it was found that his back was broken and that he was internally injured. At 11:30 he was removed to the Seible Hospital for an operation, but little hope is entertained for his recovery.

MINE WORKERS IN CONVENTION

Will Confer in Regard to Revival of Interstate Wage Agreement.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 22.—The nineteenth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America opened yesterday with 1000 delegates representing the anthracite and bituminous coal mining districts of the country. January 30 the miners and operators of the central competitive field will discuss the revival of the interstate wage agreement.

The convention has special interest as marking the official retirement of President Mitchell, who has been at the head of the organization for nine years and seven months.

SIGHT MISSING SHIP ON HER BEAM ENDS

SEATTLE, Jan. 22.—A deserting sailor from the Norwegian steamship Tyra, Bellingham to Australia, reports that the Tyra sighted the missing ship Hartfield Wednesday last 4 miles inside the straits east of Cape Flattery, on her beam ends, with her forward ensign inverted as a distress signal.

HEALTH REPORT

Shows Two-Thirds of Office Men are Victims of Dyspepsia.

Recent official health reports make the surprising revelation that sixty per cent. of men employed at office work are afflicted to a greater or less degree with dyspepsia.

Commenting on this, one of the head medical advisers of the department says that it is dyspepsia or indigestion even in its milder forms is allowed to continue it will in a short time poison the blood from putrefaction of food in the stomach.

This eventually undermines the whole system and the sufferer is prey to almost any disease, especially affections of the kidneys. He advises any one with indications of indigestion, such as bloating, belching and headaches to relieve it promptly. He says this can be most effectively done by using a digestive and gives the following formula which he strongly recommends: "Two ounces Essence of Peppin, three ounces Syrup of Ginger, one ounce Catarrh Compound. These to be well mixed and used in doses of from one to two teaspoonsful after each meal also at bedtime for the first week."

This is a very simple home remedy, the ingredients obtainable at any well-stocked drug store. It is pleasant to take and probably is the most effective formula known for restoring the stomach to its normal activity.

Mrs. Bradley Is Left to Starve

MRS. ANNA BRADLEY, SLAYER OF SENATOR, SHUNNED
BY ALL, NOW POVERTY STRICKEN.

SALT LAKE, (Utah), Jan. 22.—Mrs. Anna M. Bradley is without friends and without money and four small hungry children are hovering around her in the little hut she has rented on the outskirts of this city.

After her trial in Washington, D. C. for the killing of former United States Senator Arthur Brown, Mrs. Ella Danu Moore, author of "Life Illuminated," withdrew 500 books from the publishers and gave them to Mrs. Bradley to sell. Enough were sold in Washington to pay her way to Salt Lake City, rent a little home and buy a few groceries, but now she is absolutely penniless.

She cannot sell her books here, for she finds no one to forget her sins. She has answered "want" advertisements, trying to get any kind of clerical employment, for she is an expert book-keeper and accountant, but she has met a cold reception every time, for no business man has been found who is willing to overlook her public disgrace and notoriety.

The cooperation of her case became known when she broke her silence to-day and crawled from her hiding place to see a lawyer who was in Senator Brown's office years ago, when Mrs. Bradley was a frequent visitor there.

With tears in her eyes she told him the awful penalty she was paying for her sins and asked if he could help her find any means of earning a scanty living for the little ones.

"I feel more imprisoned here than when I was behind the bars," said Mrs. Anna Bradley.

SKILL AT WHEEL WINS A CHAUFFEUR HEIRESS BRIDE

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 22.—A romance from an automobile ride in Chicago two years ago culminated in the elopement to this city and the marriage here last night of Miss Miriam Devore, heiress to $1,000,000 and only daughter of Mrs. John A. Devore of Chicago, to Robert W. Gilmore, the bride's former chauffeur, whose father, W. A. Gilmore, is president of the W. A. Gilmore advertising company of San Francisco.

The bride is a pretty little brunette. When seen at the Planters Hotel she was shy, kittenish and reticent, and gave only blishes and smiles in answer to questions put to her by reporters.

PRETTY ROMANCE.

The groom, on the other hand, was self-composed, conscious of his importance and talked freely. He said they would leave for Chicago, where they expected to receive maternal forgiveness and blessings. Gilmore said their courtship began two years ago while they were gliding along one afternoon in one of her father's large automobiles. Gilmore won her admiration by skillfully avoiding a collision with another machine. Gilmore said the bride's family had never objected to their friendship, but opposed the marriage on account of Miss Devore's age. The bride is only 18 years old and is a favorite among her school chums here, where she has been attending a fashionable west end school.

HEIRS AFTER WILL OF DUBLIN MILLIONAIRE

Whether Sir Malcolm Inglis of Dublin, reputed capitalist, whose fortune runs into the millions and who recently died, left any provision in his will for his eldest son, William T. Inglis, whose family is now living in California, is the work that Darwin C. De Golia, a prominent attorney of Oakland, has undertaken to discover in behalf of the widow and children. De Golia has written to his representatives in Ireland and expects a reply in the near future.

Sir Malcolm, according to the widow's story, made regular monthly remittances to his son. The installments came in sufficient sums to tide the family over until the appearance of the next one, but since his death the wife and three children have been deprived of this allowance.

Sir Malcolm died last April. He had besides William, his eldest son, who died a year ago, another, named Vivian P. Inglis, who lives in Dublin. The eldest capitalist, during his lifetime, was president of the Thomas Heaton Company, a big commercial house in Ireland.

To what extent William was remembered in the will or whether any provision was made for him at all is not known. In case the title goes to the eldest son and there is entailed property, the eldest son of William T. Inglis, deceased, will come into this regardless of any will that Sir Malcolm may have made.

ALAMEDA COUNCIL TO MEET FRIDAY NIGHT

ALAMEDA, Jan. 22.—A special meeting of the Council has been called for Friday night. The need for the meeting came through the date set for the opening of bids for the improving of the east side of the Webster street roadway. The meeting will be of a few minutes duration, and the regular committee session will then be held.

ANNUAL RECEPTION.
One of the important social events of the season will be the annual reception to be given by the musical history section of the Adelphean Club to local musicians and the friends who have assisted in programs during the year, at the Unitarian

ARE WEDDED OVER PHONE; FOIL OFFICERS

HELENA, Mont., Jan. 22.—Cupid used a telephone yesterday to win a signal victory over the county authorities. As a result, Harle Brown, a prisoner in the county jail, and Miss Mollie Kufeldt, both of this city, are man and wife. The wedding was to have taken place several weeks ago, but when the guests were gathering it was found that Brown had taken some of his fiancée's jewelry and gone to Seattle.

He was captured and brought to Helena. When she found that she would be the prosecuting witness in a grand larceny case, Miss Kufeldt related. The pair wished to be united for life last Saturday, but Sheriff Shoemaker refused to allow the ceremony to take place in the jail.

Eliabert L. Clayton, counsel for the prisoner, yesterday assembled at his office Miss Kufeldt, Rev. Martin Mertz of the German Lutheran Church and several witnesses. He then called his client to the telephone at the jail and the minister performed the ceremony over the telephone.

Assistant County Attorney Phelan sat within ten feet of Brown at the time, in complete ignorance that his plans were being foiled by Cupid.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The intention of the Democratic party to nominate William J. Bryan for President at the convention to be held in Denver in July next was declared on the floor of the House of Representatives yesterday by Representative Champ Clark of Missouri.

"On the 8th of July next," he said, "we intend to nominate William J. Bryan for President."

The Democrats applauded, shrieked and pounded their desks and later the Republicans, in derision, joined in the demonstration, which lasted some minutes.

Church parlors, Grand street, Alameda, Tuesday, January 23. A fine program of music by California composers will be given by the following artists, who have contributed largely to the success of this section: August Hinrichs, Wallace Sabbin, Uda Waldrop, Harry Perry, Horatio Cogswell, Miss Belle O'Connor, assisted by Miss Mary Sherwood, cellist, and Miss Winifred Masdeck, accompanist.
